934 PEOPLE CARRIED TO DEATH IN RIVER ONLY 14 MINUTES AFTER LINER WAS HIT

ASK HALF MILLION FOR DEVELOPMENT OF GREATER TECH

Governor Slaton Indorses Movement to Raise $500,000 to Enable School to Meet Demands Upon It.

CAMPAIGN IS LAUNCHED AT DINNER LAST NIGHT

Movement Backed by Civic Organizations and Prominent Citizens From All Parts of the State.

A campaign to raise $500,000 for a Greater Georgia Tech was enthusiastically launched last night at a dinner at the Capital City club. The movement is indorsed by Governor John M. Slaton and has behind it the solid backing and indorsement of the leading civic organizations, of leading Atlanta citizens and of the manufacturing, industrial and mercantile interests of the city and state.

The immediate cause of bringing the imperative needs of the institution to a head at this time is twofold. Tech has reached a point where further development is impossible without a new power plant and greater laboratory facilities, and in addition leading manufacturers of the north have agreed to contribute more than $100,000 worth of modern power plant machinery and equipment, provided the friends of the school will erect a suitable building.

Behind these two immediate causes for action lies the general congested condition at Tech, the tremendous possibilities for development provided sufficient funds are raised and the necessity of getting more money in order that Tech may maintain her pre-eminence as the greatest technological school in the south and one of the greatest in the country.

Campaign for Subscriptions.

It was definitely decided last night to make a campaign for subscriptions totaling $500,000, this amount to be payable $100,000 a year for five years. Governor John M. Slaton, Dr. K. G. Matheson, president of Georgia Tech, and Phineas V. Stephens, consulting engineer of Tech, made the opening speeches of the evening, outlining the present conditions and needs of the institution. Judge Nat E. Harris, of Macon, chairman of the board of trustees of Tech, spoke along the same lines. Mell R. Wilkinson, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, promised that organization's support, and Charles J. Haden, president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, promised the same.

The practical and vital importance of the movement to the industrial, manufacturing and mercantile interests of the south were emphasized in speeches by Allen Johnson, president of the Exposition Cotton mills; H. M. Atkinson, of the Georgia Railway and Power company, and others. They stressed the tremendous value that the increased facilities and equipment at Tech would be to the industrial and mercantile interests, and the main appeal for funds will be made direct to the manufacturing and mercantile interests.

Value of Tech Shown.

The value of Tech to the manufacturers of Georgia and the south was vividly set forth by H. M. Atkinson, of the Georgia Railway and Power company, who declared that all the money the state had ever given to President Matheson had been more than repaid to him alone in the magnificent and efficient work which the graduates of Tech, who are employed with the corporation with which he is connected, have done. He was warm and earnest in his praise of their efficiency and capability, and pledged the movement for a greater Tech his financial and personal support. He criticised himself for not having been of more assistance to Tech in the past, and pointed out that there are many business men who are in the same position. He closed his talk with a ringing plea for more of the Atlanta spirit to support Tech.

Allen Johnson outlined the great analytical and experimental work that Tech should be prepared to do for the cotton manufacturers of Georgia. He declared that the school should be so equipped that it could do this work in addition to its instructional work, and assured the business men assembled that the cotton manufacturers would be only too glad to give their financial support to an institution which would help them solve their practical problems in such a manner.

Among the other speakers who heartily indorsed the greater Tech movement and promised their support were Mayor James G. Woodward, C. J. Haden, president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce; Keats Speed, of The Atlanta Georgian, and Clark Howell, of The Atlanta Constitution.

Resolutions Adopted.

The following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, The present company of business men of Atlanta and Georgia, including our honored governor, is imbued with the spirit of progress and development, and

Professor Hart Killed in Fight On Jekyl Island

Fatally Shot by J. H. Thompson After the Two Had Been Turtle Hunting on the Beach.

Brunswick, Ga., May 29.—(Special)—News was received in the city late tonight of a shooting affray which occurred on Jekyl Island shortly before 10 o'clock, in which Professor J. W. Hart, assistant manager of the Jekyl Island club, was shot and instantly killed by J. H. Thompson, who lives on the island.

Only meager details of the shooting could be ascertained, but it is understood that the two men, together with two others, were on the Jekyl beach turtle hunting. They left the Millionaires' club house shortly before 7 o'clock, the best of friends. While on the beach, it seems an argument arose and Thompson pulled a revolver and fired several times, three of the bullets entering Mr. Hart's face and head, producing death almost instantly. He was removed to the club house cottage and Thompson sent to his home.

Officers in Brunswick have been notified and, accompanied by the coroner, will at once go to Jekyl to hold an inquest. Mr. Hart, who was 45 years of age, only a few weeks ago accepted the position of assistant superintendent of the Millionaires' club. He came to Brunswick from Athens, Ga., where he was a professor in the State Agricultural college, and had made many friends here.

Thompson is a fisherman on the island, and has made his home on the island for many years.

5,000 INVITATIONS TO HOUSE WARMING

Chamber of Commerce Will Today Celebrate Formal Opening of New Home. Big Crowd Expected.

The chamber of commerce has sent out 5,000 invitations to their "house warming," which will be held today at the offices of the organization, and it is expected that a large number will be in attendance.

From 4 to 6 o'clock the public reception, in charge of the Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, with 100 of its directors as entertainment committee, will take place. President Mell R. Wilkinson, of the chamber of commerce, will deliver the address of welcome.

Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, president of the City Federation of Women's Clubs, will make a talk, following which Edward R. Gurby, representing the Tampa, Fla., board of trade, will speak. Light refreshments are to be served, and an orchestra will furnish music.

At 8 o'clock tonight the annual report of the officers of the chamber of commerce will be read. Then V. H. Kriegshaber, chairman of the building committee, will present the Commerce building, and President Wilkinson will deliver the speech of acceptance.

E. L. Adams, president of the Credit Men's Association of Atlanta, will talk on the part of the commercial forces in the chamber of commerce. Mayor Woodward will speak on "Co-operation of the City Government and the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce." The concluding address will be by Governor Slaton: "Work of the Chamber of Commerce in Its Relation to the State."

VILLA IS ARRESTED CHARGED WITH THE THEFT OF CLOTHES

Waycross, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—Charged with larceny in Jacksonville, Francisco Villa, a Columbia, Indiana, 19 years old, and two Cubans claiming to have come to this country recently from Mexico, were arrested here today and held pending the arrival of officers from Florida.

Villa says a suit belonging to the man in Jacksonville, who had them arrested, was taken in settlement of a debt incurred when railroad fare from Tampa to Jacksonville was advanced.

A. V. HARRISON IS KILLED BY SUMMERS, A TENANT

Bogart, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—A. V. Harrison, a prominent citizen here, was shot and instantly killed here this morning by Ed Summers, a farmer, 42 years old.

Summers was a tenant of Harrison and operated a sawmill for him. A dispute arose over a settlement, and Summers shot Harrison through the abdomen with a shotgun. Harrison died without making a statement. He had a wife and children, and his family, as well as that of Summers, witnessed the tragedy, which occurred in the road near Harrison's house.

There was no inquest and late tonight there has been no arrest. Summers made no effort to get away.

A. B. C. MEDIATORS RECEIVE DELEGATE FROM REBEL CHIEF

Carranza Willing to Discuss Only International Differences Between the United States and Mexico.

AMERICANS REQUESTED RECEPTION OF AGENT

Note From Gen. Carranza Will Not Disturb Course of Negotiations, Says Envoys' Statement.

Niagara Falls, Ontario, May 29.—Consideration of an agreement between the Huerta government and the United States was interrupted temporarily today when Juan F. Urquidi, a representative of General Carranza, laid before the South American envoys a note expressing surprise that the mediation negotiations were continuing with the constitutionalists unrepresented.

After a long debate the mediators decided not to permit Urquidi to present the communication. Then, after a conference with the American delegates the mediators admitted the Carranza emissary. The following statement was issued by the envoys:

"The mediators have received a communication from a representative of General Carranza, the tenor of which differs entirely from the version contained in a news dispatch this morning from Durango and cannot disturb the course of the negotiations."

Whether answer will be made to General Carranza or his representative in Washington is not known outside of the diplomatic tribunal. The mediators refused to answer questions on the subject. Attaches, however, reiterated that the proceedings could be resumed with a constitutionalist present only if General Carranza agreed to a suspension of hostilities.

Urquidi Cast Down at First.

Mr. Urquidi met with considerable embarrassment in delivering his message. When he sent his card to the mediation chamber word came back that the mediators were busy. He waited an hour and then sent up a note saying he did not come to discuss issues but merely to deliver a message. The mediators then received him and questioned him about the contents of the note. He was asked particularly if it was as represented in a news dispatch from Durango, to which he replied that the substance was the same, but the phraseology different. The mediators doubted the propriety of receiving Urquidi and finally told him to return at 5 o'clock.

During the afternoon the mediators conferred among themselves and the word was passed around generally that the communication would not be accepted. Finally the American delegates came over to the Canadian side. They talked for more than an hour, then Urquidi was summoned. Minister Naon accepted the note on behalf of the envoys and Mr. Urquidi was dismissed. The document was signed by Rafael Zubaran Capmany, minister of interior in the constitutionalist cabinet, who is in Washington. It was written on explicit instructions from General Carranza. The original instructions to the minister are contained in the following message published from Durango today:

Carranza's Instructions.

Six days ago conferences began to treat the international conflict between the United States and Mexico occasioned by the arrest of American sailors by soldiers of Huerta at Tampico. To solve this conflict you offered to the government of the United States, to Huerta and to me, your good offices, inviting me to appoint delegates who would represent the general headquarters of the constitutionalist army, which is under my orders.

"I answered you that in principle I would accept your good offices, and later a separate message called the points which would be dealt with in the peace conference. Awaiting an answer to that dispatch I have not named delegates.

"I am surprised that you have continued to treat for a solution of the conflict between the United States and Mexico without representatives from the constitutionalist army, which is under my orders and represents the largest armed force of the republic.

For this reason I state to you that I believe the conflict between the United States and Mexico ought not to be solved in future conferences unless in these conferences there is represented the general headquarters of the constitutionalist army."

Little Progress Made.

The note Urquidi delivered reiterated General Carranza's previous position, that he always has been willing to send representatives to discuss international questions.

It was suggested in some quarters tonight that a final agreement might not be approved by the United States until the constitutionalists were brought within the scope of the mediation program.

As authority for this suggestion the

Senoritas Hope for Peace

SENOR RABASA'S DAUGHTERS.

"Oh, we want peace! We hope the horrible fighting in our country will stop and that there will be no war with the United States." Thats the way the four pretty daughters of Senor Emilio Rabasa, chairman of the Mexican envoys to the A. B. C. peace conference, feel. They are four of Mexico's fairest daughters. As they were gathered in a group on the porch of the peace hotel at Niagara Falls they made a charming quartet of vivacious brunettes, talented and up-to-date. They appear in the accompanying picture of the senor's family. Right, top, Mercedes; right, Concepcion; bottom, Isabel.

Three Hundred Thousand Extra Vote Offer Comes to End at Midnight Tonight

The very minutes are numbered, candidate. At midnight tonight the largest offer of extra votes that will be made during the contest will close. All remittances made by mail will count on clubs if the postmark shows the letter was mailed before 12 o'clock midnight May 30. Make every effort. Take full advantage of this situation. Remember you can never have too many votes.

Remember that for every club of $36 worth of new yearly subscriptions you will be given 300,000 extra votes in addition to the votes issued on subscriptions as per schedule. Four clubs will give you 1,200,000 extra votes, to say nothing of the votes issued on all subscription payments.

Thirteen Automobiles Given Away.

Thirteen automobiles will be given away and thirteen people are going to receive these automobiles. The question for you to decide is whether or not you want an automobile and are willing to put fourth the proper effort to obtain one.

The only real difficulty in this contest will be competition, and there seems to be very little of that. The splendid automobiles provided for free distribution are worth anyone's time to obtain—yet, it would seem that they are to go for the minimum of effort.

Opportunity Knocks.

Where are those among the millions of people hereabouts who have been waiting for opportunity to nod recognition to them? Where are the ambitious ones who have the ability to take advantage of opportunity when it offers itself to them?

Five thousand nominations have been received, indicating that there are those who, in the opinion of their friends, could creditably uphold the banners of the community in which they live. Yet how few have responded to the call. How astonishingly few there are who care for the advantages enjoyed by the owner of a first-class motor car; who care for an automobile conceded to be full value received for the purchase price when paid for in gold even though they will come gratis to the contestants in the contest.

How very few there are who enjoy music well enough to insure themselves a lifetime of melody in exchange for a small portion of their time and attention to the gathering of free votes. Few, indeed, there are who care to acquire free a musical instrument for which the ordinary individual must pay $750 in real money.

If your name has already been sent in to the contest department, now is the time to begin an active campaign for votes. If your name has not been sent and you are still hesitating, hesitate no longer. Send in your name at once and ask for full particulars and you will receive a letter by return mail giving all the necessary information concerning the $25,270 free gift campaign. It costs you nothing. You have the ability to get free votes. The Constitution has the automobiles, nine high-grade player pianos and cash awards. The Constitution is willing to trade these for some of your valuable time. They must be given away, and if you do not own one of these automobiles it will be your fault. The opportunity is here and you must decide whether or not you will take advantage of the opportunity offered you by The Constitution.

Offer Closes Tonight.

Remember that tonight at midnight closes the greatest bonus offer of the period.

Should you secure from your friends three two-year subscriptions to The Constitution at $12 each, you would be issued on these subscriptions, according to the schedule, 210,000 votes; and for the club of $36 you would be given an extra bonus vote of 300,000, giving you approximately 510,000 votes for one club of new yearly subscriptions. Should you secure four clubs of this kind today, which you and your friends can easily do if you will put forth the proper effort, you will have a start of approximately 2,040,000, which will put you in advance of nearly every candidate in the field. Is it not worthy of your effort?

$2,525 for One Month's Work.

It is now less than thirty days to the closing of this contest. If you wish one of these automobiles you would have to pay just exactly the price quoted. Do you know of any way or which you could spend your spare time to any greater profit for the next thirty days than in trying to wine one of these automobiles, which means from $1,150 to $2,525 for one month's work, should you be fortunate enough to secure one of these machines? If, however, you should fail to win one of the machines, or the second prize—one of Ludden & Bates' $750 player-pianos—and send in $100 worth or more of new subscriptions, you will be given a cash award of $10 for each $100 worth of new business turned in by you. Everything is in your favor. You cannot fail to win something, and the chances of your winning an automobile depend entirely upon your own efforts.

Do not allow any of your friends to persuade you not to enter this contest, if you are inclined to do so. Make up your mind to enter, and assure your friends that you intend to go in to win an automobile. They will admire you for your determination and you can enlist them to help you secure one of these valuable prizes.

This contest is being conducted by The Atlanta Constitution and not by a contest company. This assures you there is enough to guarantee every candidate that the contest is being conducted properly and every candidate will receive proper treatment, and that results will depend alone on the efforts of the candidate.

The names of the nominees in this contest will be published for the second time in tomorrow's issue, May 31.

CLAYTON ANTI-TRUST MEASURE IS AMENDED

Washington, May 29.—One amendment to the Clayton omnibus anti-trust bill was made in the house today to broaden the jurisdiction of federal courts so anti-trust suits might be brought in any district where a corporation "resides or is found or has an agent."

Only Few Women Escaped In Panic Which Followed Ramming of the Empress

Twenty-Two Passengers Die After Being Picked Up—Many Drowned in Their Beds—Rescue Ships Eureka and Lady Evelyn Pick Up Nine Boat Loads of Passengers—Numbers Maimed in Jumping Overboard.

Rimouski, Quebec, May 29.—Sinking in ninety feet of water within fifteen minutes after being rammed amidships in the upper reaches of the St. Lawrence river early today, the Canadian Pacific liner, Empress of Ireland, carried down with her more than 900 of her passengers and crew. Of the 1,367 persons on board the liner, only 433 are known to have been saved, making the probable death list 934.

Looming up through the river mists, as the Empress of Ireland was lying to, waiting for the fog to lift or day to break, the Danish collier Storstad crashed bow-on into the side of the big Canadian liner, striking her about midway of her length and ripping her side open clear to the stern.

The crash occurred not far from the shore off Father Point, 150 miles from Quebec, which the Empress of Ireland left yesterday afternoon, bound for Liverpool, and ten miles from this point on the St. Lawrence. In reality, therefore, although the liner was heading for the sea and the collier coming in from it, the disaster was not one of the ocean, but of the river. Unlike the Titanic's victims, the Empress of Ireland's lost their lives within sight of shore—in land-locked waters.

Immediately the ship's crew recovered from the shock of the collision and it was seen that the liner had received a vital blow, a wireless "S. O. S." call was sounded.

Survivors In Quebec With Faces Marked By Fright of Wreck

Quebec, May 29.—A train with 296 survivors from the sunken steamer, Empress of Ireland, reached here shortly before 8 o'clock tonight. The rescued on board numbered twenty-nine first-class, twenty-nine second-class and 101 third-class passengers, and 227 of the crew. Thirty-seven survivors were left at Rimouski, which would make a total of 433 saved. As revised figures show 1,367 persons to have been on the steamer, this makes the probable number of lost 934.

A full equipment of ambulances and the army medical service corps was in readiness at Levis when the special survivors' train arrived there, and the passengers were disembarked and transferred to a ferry steamer waiting at a special wharf to facilitate the transfer to Quebec.

It was a pitiful sight when the ferry steamer docked on the Quebec side at 8:30 o'clock tonight and the 296 survivors disembarked. Their faces registered the frightful experience they had gone through. Few possessed a complete outfit of clothing.

The second and third-class passengers and the crew were made comfortable on the Allan liner, Alsatian, and the first-class and injured passengers were transferred to the Chateau Frontenac. A staff of doctors and nurses took charge of the injured.

Few Women Saved.

Among the twenty-five first cabin survivors there were eight women and one child and also among the twenty-nine rescued from the second cabin were eight women and one child. Of the 101 persons saved from the steerage four were women.

Among the fifty passengers left in Rimouski were a number so ill or so badly injured they had to be taken to hospitals.

To the coolness of Dr. James F. Grant, of Victoria, B. C., ship's surgeon on the Empress, was credited the saving of many passengers taken out of the water who probably would have perished had they not received prompt medical attention.

A graphic description of the scene on board the Empress of Ireland after the collision was given by Dr. Grant.

"I was in my cabin," he said, "and knew nothing of the accident until the boat listed so badly I tumbled out of my berth. I tried to turn on the light, but there was no power. I reached the bolted door, but the list was so strong that it took me considerable time to open it. When finally I got out and reached the passageway it was so steep, due to the way in which the ship was listing, that my efforts to climb up were rendered impossible.

"I then scrambled up and managed to get my head through a port hole, but I was unable to get my shoulders through. At that time the ship was lying almost flat in the water on her starboard side. A passenger standing on the side of the ship managed to pull me through the port hole.

Hundred on Side of Ship.

"About a hundred passengers were gathered on the side of the ship at the time, but a moment after I had

LINER HAD SUNK BEFORE BOATS CAME.

The hurried appeal was picked up by the government mail tender Lady Evelyn here, and the government pilot boat Eureka, at Father Point, and both set out to the rescue. So deep was the hurt of the Empress, however, and so fast the inrush of waters, that long before either of the rescue boats could reach the scene the liner had gone down. Only floating wreckage and a few lifeboats and rafts from the steamer, buoying up less than a third of those who had set sail on her, were to be found. The rest had sunk with the liner, had been crushed to death in the Storstad's impact with her, or had been forced, from exposure in the ice-chilled waters, to loose their hold on bits of wreckage and had drowned.

Only a few persons were picked up by the Storstad, which was badly crippled herself, and these were brought here by the collier, together with those saved by the Eureka and the Lady Evelyn. Twenty-two of the rescued died from injury or exposure. The others, most of whom had jumped into the boats or plunged into the water from the sinking liner, scantily clad, were given such clothing as the town could supply, and later those that could travel were placed on board a train and started

NO TIME TO ROUSE PEOPLE FROM BERTHS.

Accounts agree that in the brief space of time—not more than four teen minutes—between the shock of the collision and the sinking of the liner there was little chance for systematic marshaling of the passengers. Indeed, everything indicates that hundreds of those on the steamer probably never reached the decks. Few women were among the saved, not more than a dozen, the lists make it appear.

"It all happened so quickly we did not really know what was going on, and nobody had time to cry, 'Women first,' one of the passengers told Captain Bellinger, of the rescue boat Eureka.

"The stewards did not have time to rouse the people from their berths," the survivor added. "Those who heard the frenzied calls of the officers for the passengers to hurry on deck, and crushed up, piled into the boats, which were rapidly lowered and rowed away. Many who waited to dress were drowned."

The horror of the interval during the time the Empress was rapidly filling and the frightened throngs on board her were hurrying every effort to escape before she sank was added to by an explosion which quickly followed the ripping given the liner by the Storstad's bow. According to one of the rescued, the explosion, probably caused by the water reaching the boilers, bulged the liner's sides and catapulted persons from her decks out into the sea. The ship's heavy list, as water pouring in weighted her on the side she was struck, made the work of launching boats increasingly difficult and when she finally took her plunge to the bottom scores still left on her decks were carried down, only a few being able to clear her sides and find support on wreckage.

HE STOOD ON BRIDGE AS SHIP WENT DOWN.

From all accounts Captain H. G. Kendall, of the Empress of Ireland, bore himself like a true sailor. He retained such command of the situation, it appears, that while the Storstad's stem still hung in the gash it had made in the Empress' side, Captain Kendall begged the master of the collier to keep his propellers going so that the hole might remain plugged. The Storstad, however, dropped back and the Empress filled and foundered.

Captain Kendall stood on his bridge as the ship went down. A boat picked him up and he directed its work of saving others until the craft was loaded. The captain was injured, suffered from exposure, but his hurts are not dangerous.

When day broke the rescue boats had not returned from the scene of the wreck.

People standing on shore at Father Point scanning the harbor with telescopes saw the rescue steamers picking up boats in the river and prepared to give help to the survivors. They were sorely in need of aid, as most of them had on little clothing and the temperature was near the freezing point. When they had been given attention the work of recovering bodies was undertaken. Grappling hooks and themselves had brought in nearly fifty of these and tonight, after they had continued their search, a total of about 250 bodies had been recovered. One woman and four men still lingered but unconscious, were picked up by the steamers during the day. Few of the bodies had been identified tonight.

The wireless is given credit for saving many lives. Responding promptly to the "S. O. S." call, the steamer Eureka was on the spot approximately twenty minutes after the disaster and the Lady Evelyn but little later.

SURVIVORS PRESENT VERY PITIFUL SIGHT.

The survivors who came on the train from the wharf presented a pitiful sight. Most of them were without a clothing. Many had to be carried. A woman was suffering with a broken leg and shoulder, and a man with two broken legs. They were carried to the hotel opposite the station. H. R. O'Hara and his little girl, Helen, were saved, but up to the present no news of Mrs. O'Hara has been received.

A young Englishman said when the ship was struck by the collier the shock was terrific. He was asleep in his cabin. He jumped from bed, put on a dressing gown and went directly to wake up two friends, telling them he thought the ship was sinking. He then went on deck and came back a second time to see if his friends had left their cabin, but in his excitement he went on the wrong side. The ship then was sinking fast. He took hold of a rope and went into a lifeboat. He fears his friends were drowned.

Very few women and children were saved. They were asleep in their cabins and the accident occurred so quickly that they could not be rescued.

One woman who was garbed only in a vest, jumped overboard and swam to the Lady Evelyn. She was exhausted, however, that she died in a few minutes after she was taken from the water. Her identity has not been established.

Both the first and second Marconi operators of the Empress were saved. Edward Bomford, the second operator, was coming on duty when the boat began to sink. He caught the Father Point Marconi station and called for assistance.

Bomford fell into a lifeboat and was saved. The other operator, Donald Furgusson, had to swim for the boat. Both operators came back to the Rimouski port on board of the pilot boat Eureka.

Passengers praised the captain and the pilot of the Lady Evelyn and Captain Belanger, of the Eureka, and their crews.

All of them displayed great bravery, it was declared. All of the authorities of Rimouski and Father Point joined in caring for the survivors.

CRANK ERE PASSENGERS KNEW WHAT HAPPENED.

The crash occurred about 2 o'clock this morning off Father Point, Quebec, a village brought into prominence when Dr. Crippen, the London murderer, was caught. The collier, bound for Three Rivers, struck the Empress of Ireland on the port side about the middle of the ship. She literally tore her way back almost to the liner's screws, leaving a rent through which the waters poured in such a deluge that she sank before many of the passengers were aware of what had happened.

Brief wireless calls for help sent out by the Marconi operator were heard by the pilot boat Eureka, here, a mile from the scene, and the Eureka, followed by the Lady Evelyn, a mail boat, put on every steam and made all speed for the spot.

It was these two boats that found afloat on the few lifeboats that were launched from the stricken ship and picked up the survivors they contained. Three hundred and fifty-six were saved by the Lady Evelyn and sixty by the Eureka. Among those saved was Captain H. G. Kendall, of the Empress.

Most of the first-class passengers apparently perished. Among those in the first cabin, were Sir Henry Seton Karr, a noted English lawyer and big game hunter, and Laurence Irving, son of the late Sir Henry Irving, and his wife, Mabel Hackney. Of a party of 100 Salvation Army members on board, only 20 were rescued. They had left Quebec yesterday, bound for the army's international conference in London.

So quickly did the Empress sink that those passengers fortunate enough to get into the lifeboats found themselves garbed only in their night clothes. No baggage was saved. The condition of the survivors was pitiable. Some had broken arms and legs and all had suffered terribly. L. E. Gossetin, a prominent lawyer from Montreal, severely himself by clinging to a raft. When the rescue ships docked here the station platform was converted into a hospital, and townspeople brought in food and clothing, united in a common effort to aid the sufferers. Several bodies with faces covered lay side by side on the wharf. They were passengers who had made the lifeboats but who were fatally hurt.

Wreckage strews the St. Lawrence for a long distance near the spot where the Empress sank. The sun shone brightly during the forenoon. Though the water is still icy, the temperature today was not low enough to increase the suffering of the survivors.

MAJORITY OF SAVED ARE MEMBERS OF CREW.

The vast majority of the saved were members of the ship's crew. Early estimates here indicated that not more than sixty passengers were saved. Besides Captain Kendall, first and second engineers and the ship's surgeon, were rescued. The captain was too overcome to give at first any extended account of the disaster. He had sent wireless to his line after the vessel was struck, saying:

"Ship gone."

The 3,000 residents of Rimouski came silently to the dock where the dead and stretched lines were being landed and under the direction of Mayor Pelletier, did all that was possible. Every doctor in the town was on the scene and many of the injured were taken to private homes. The townsfolk brought garments of all descriptions for those who had lost their belongings. No headquarters were established—at the wharf and at the station of the Inter-Colonial railway. At the station those injured were given temporary relief and cared for.

The rescue boats, Eureka and Lady Evelyn, found on reaching the point where the Empress sank, a scene not unsimilar to that which followed the liners which rushed to the Titanic's aid. They found the ship gone and on the surface of the water, fortunately calm, dotted with life boats and floating debris.

In the life boats were huddled the survivors, dazed and moaning, some when dying of injuries sustained in the crash or in the rush of leaving the sinking ship. Many were without a clothing but incoherent, almost hysterical accounts of what had happened. J. L. Black and Mrs. Black, of Montreal, said they had jumped together into the water. They had been separated by the shock of the collision and, unable to get into a life boat, had risked the leap. They were picked up by a boat from the Lady Evelyn. Another survivor was Mrs. Patten, of Sherbrooke, Que.

STORSTAD ABLE TO KEEP AFLOAT.

First reports had it that the collier Storstad had also sunk. These proved to be incorrect. The ship's bow was badly damaged, the Storstad was able to keep afloat.

The water that poured into the ship's engine room caused an explosion and this forced many to jump.

Haynes, an assistant purser, told of leaping from the upper promenade deck. He climbed into No. 3 lifeboat, the last boat to be removed from the wreck for a time and found Captain Kendall clinging to a piece of wreckage. Haynes had jumped just before the Empress went down.

W. Davis, of Montreal, one of the few survivors able to talk coherently after first landing, said he and his wife had not been awakened by the impact of the collision and knew nothing of the accident until water began to rush into their state room. He helped his wife to the boat deck but the big ship had already listed and it was impossible to launch a boat. Together they crawled on their hands and knees up the sloping deck of the liner. The vessel was rapidly sinking. His wife was swept from his grasp. Both were carried by the suction into the water. They clung to a piece of wood and were rescued. The wife was unconscious.

J. W. Longley, a rancher of Canford, B. C., calmly sat on the deck rail and went down with the sinking ship. He held his breath, came up, grabbed a log side on their way to the surface and was rescued by the Eureka.

William Mackay, a Salvation Army bandsman, crept along the rail of the promenade deck and dropped into the water. He swam to a life boat and was rescued.

People Shot Into Sea By Explosion on Ship

Quebec, May 29.—A story that there was a deliberate explosion on board the Empress of Ireland after she was hit by the Storstad was told tonight by Philip Lawler, a steerage passenger from Brantford, Ont. When the collision came water rushed into the steerage quarters. A few seconds later there came an explosion that shook the vessel. It was probably was when the water reached the boilers, Lawler said.

"People were shot out of the ship into the sea by the explosion," Lawler added. "I was pushed overboard by my wife and 15-year-old boy. The boy could swim, so I tried to take care of my wife, but somehow she slipped from my grasp and sank."

Dr. Johnston, chief medical officer on the Empress, said that had not the Storstad backed out so soon from the gash in the side of the liner the passengers would have been saved.

Chief Marconi Operator Hays, of the Empress, told of sinking of the vessel:

"As soon as I felt the shock of the collision," he said, "I was ordered to sound the danger signal and the flash of my S. O. S. immediately was picked up by the operator at Father Point and answered, but I could not talk with him, for the minutes after the impact my dynamos failed and seventeen minutes after the collision our boat went down."

To pluckily leap from the deck of the sinking liner and swim around for nearly an hour in the river and then to be dead from exhaustion on the deck of the pilot boat Eureka was the fate of an unidentified woman.

LIST OF SURVIVORS ON LAST PAGE

"Failures" Who Became Stars.

(From Leslie's.)

In the last few years more than one player thrust into the big leagues without even an option on his future services, found retained, has returned to fast company and performed in so masterly a manner that the managers who failed to see his good points when he held first claim on the men have been made to look like a genuine baseball joke. Jake Daubert, of the Superbas, the best first baseman in the game today, was thrown overboard by the Naps, and even the shrewd Connie Mack failed to see the possibilities in Joe Jackson, the club swinging artist. Davis and Dan Murphy were turned down by the Athletics, fought their way back among the featured men in the leagues. Bill Killifer, of the Phillies, and Bob Bescher and Jeff Tesreau, of the Giants, went to the National organization and made good after they had been forced to walk the plank in the American league.

Atlanta Grocer got himself in trouble because he could not satisfy the ladies until he furnished them Daily Varden Flour, White as the Driven Snow.

Widow of Titanic First Officer Is Niece of Empress' Captain

London, May 29.—The full magnitude of the disaster to the Empress of Ireland was understood by the English public only tonight.

The day was one of suspense and eagerness for news throughout the kingdom, while conflicting bulletins succeeded one another from early morning to evening.

The last regular editions of the evening papers contained the report that many had been saved. Extras were issued with the chief statement that "the chief Marconi operator of the Empress of Ireland has wired from Father Point that a thousand people have been drowned."

The worst fears were confirmed by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy's statement in the extras, which reached theatergoers as they emerged from places of amusement, that the catastrophe was the most serious in the history of the St. Lawrence route.

Sir Henry Seton-Kerr and Laurence Irving were the only persons aboard whose names were well known here. Most of the other English passengers in the first cabin were busines men from provincial cities. Mr. and Mrs. Irving had a host of personal friends here, apart from the prominence which Laurence Irving had attained among the stage people.

As soon as it was evident that there had been a great loss of life, the flags on all shipping offices were half-masted. At the Canadian Pacific offices bulletins were posted. The Queen Mother Alexandra sent an equerry to make inquiries. John Burns, president of the local government board, visited the offices twice for personal information. Among others who sought information was Mrs. Wilde, Captain Kendall's niece. Her husband was chief officer of the Titanic and perished in the wreck of that ship. Her only remaining brother, Cedric Irving, was third officer of the Empress of Ireland, another brother, George Evans, who was sixth officer of the Titanic, having lost his life with that ship. Her father was drowned at sea seventeen years ago.

General Bramwell Booth dispatched a message of sympathy and condolence to the army at Toronto, announcing that he was sending Commissioner McKie tomorrow "to stand by you."

New Safety-at-Sea Treaty Would Have Prevented Wreck

Washington, May 29.—News of the sinking of the steamer Empress of Ireland stirred administration officials today and aroused comment in congressional circles.

"The hull of the Empress of Ireland must have been a mere shell for the ship to have gone down in ten minutes," said Senator Burton, one of the American delegates to the London safety-at-sea convention. The senator expressed the opinion that if the new safety treaty had been in effect much loss of life would have been prevented. It probably would have compelled the owners of the Empress to have reconstructed her.

Senator Lewis, who also was a delegate to the convention, declared the great loss of life on the Empress of Ireland would not have occurred had the treaty been in force.

This treaty still is before a senate foreign relations subcommittee.

Secretary Redfield asked congress today for the appropriation of $15,000 for extra inspectors to enforce laws prevending overcrowding of passenger and excursion vessels. Mr. Redfield suggested that cabinet a law making it a criminal offense for a captain to operate his steamer at full speed in a fog.

Probe of Wreck Demanded By Sir Wilfrid Laurier

Ottawa, Ontario, May 29.—That a thorough investigation must be made into the cause of the steamer Empress of Ireland was urged on the Canadian government tonight by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, opposition leader in parliament.

"The hand of fate has been heavy against us the past few months," he said. "This is the third disaster on the St. Lawrence route since navigation opened two months ago, and in loss of life it has surpassed anything since the wreck of the Titanic. It is difficult to believe such an accident could not have been prevented."

The government steamer Lady Grey, carrying Canadian governor princesses and doctors, from Quebec City, is due to arrive at Father Point at midnight. An official inquiry into the circumstances of the Empress of Ireland will be begun early next week, according to Alex Johnston, deputy minister of marine.

Loss of Life on Empress Exceeded in 4 Sea Horrors

The loss of life on the Empress of Ireland has been equalled or exceeded by that of many disasters in the last century. These were the loss of the Rhone, Wye and other vessels at St. Thomas in the great hurricane of October 29, 1867, when 1,000 persons perished; the burning of the excursion boat General Slocum in the East river, New York, on June 15, 1904, with an approximated loss of 1,000 lives; that of the boat which conveyed the Atlantic steamship Atlas to safety after the collision with an ice berg, with 1,490 of her company and the loss of the Kickemaru, off the Japanese coast, September 28, 1912, with a loss of 1,000 lives.

Other disasters that approximated in loss of life the fatality list of the Empress of Ireland are the Princess Alice sunk in collision in the Thames river on September 3, 1878, with 700; the Eriogrul, foundered off the Japanese coast, September 18, 1890, loss 540; the Victoria, sunk off Gibraltar in collision, March 17, 1891, with a loss of 574; the Norge, stranded off Rockall-Scotland, January 30, 1904, with 600; the LaBourgogne, lost in collision in the North Atlantic, July 4, 1898, with a loss of 571; the Japanese battleship Mikasa, blown up September 12, 1905, with a loss of 599.

SURVIVORS OF WRECK ARRIVE IN QUEBEC

Joined them the vessel took another list and plunged to the bottom.

"I next found myself in the water and swam toward the lights of the steamer Storstad, and, when nearly exhausted, I was picked up by a lifeboat. This boat went on to the scene of the disaster and picked up a load of survivors from the water and then took them on board the Storstad. There we were wrapped in blankets, and I was provided with clothes. When able, I did what I could to help the survivors. Some of them, however, were in such an exhausted condition that they died."

Only two children are known to have been saved. A wonderful rescue was one of these—little 8-year-old Gracie Hanaghan, daughter of the leader of the Salvation Army band. Her father and mother were drowned. Gracie was not told of her loss and believed tonight that her father and mother would come to Quebec on the next boat.

When asked how she was saved Gracie replied. "Oh, I saved myself."

The child was entirely unconcerned. No lifeboat was near when she was thrown from the Empress. She seized a piece of floating wood and later was pulled into a lifeboat.

Carried Under Thrice.

Major Attwell, of Toronto, and his wife were among the saved.

"I got a life belt for my wife," said Major Attwell, "and we jumped into the water together. We were carried under three times by the suction of the foundering vessel. When we came up the third time I saw a life boat near and I swam to it, pulling my wife after me.

"The impact when the vessels struck was just sufficient to wake us up. It sounded as if our boat had struck a rock. It was very slight, and I was surprised when I realized the awful consequences of the crash. When we got on the deck there were very few persons to be seen. The reason for this is that when the boat had listed to one side the stairs from the sleeping apartments up to the boat decks were very difficult, almost impossible to ascend. All rushed for the deck as the water was pouring in in such volume that it was impossible to descend before we could mount the stairs."

K. A. McIntyre was in the second cabin with most of the other Salvation Army passengers when the crash came.

"Virtually every leading officer of the Salvation Army in Canada is gone," he said. "Commissioner Rees and his wife and the children went down, and only three of this family survive. And all out of the Salvation party of 150 on board, probably less than twenty were rescued."

"I was on the upper deck, and, therefore, had a better chance to escape than those in the lower berths. I was aroused by the impact, and awakened the others in my cabin. I then could hear plainly the rush of water, and I felt sure that something had happened. I grabbed a life preserver and went to the deck. On deck there were no life belts and quite a number of people were standing about apparently unable to determine what to do. I gave my belt to Mrs. Ford, one of our party.

"My three comrades went to the bottom. I swam in the direction of the vessel that ran us down, and was pulled into a life boat. As I swam through the icy waters I heard the explosion caused by the water reaching the engines of the sinking ship. Then came a great blazing of the lights and she turned over. It looked to me as if she turned turtle.

"I do not think there were many first-class passengers saved. I saw only one of the first-class boats lowered."

HUMPHREY TO OFFER MINORITY REPORT

Councilman Wants $10,000 Transferred From South Pryor Street to School Funds.

Because a majority of the members of the finance committee declined to support his plan to take $10,000 from the South Pryor street improvement fund and transfer it to the school funds, G. H. Humphrey, chairman of the committee, declared after adjournment of the committee yesterday that he will offer a minority report in council on Monday.

Although the finance committee has been attacked by council and by individual members, the report of the board of education is absolutely necessary, and takes the position that the Pryor street improvement can wait until 1915. The finance committee put $15,000 in the January sheet for the street, and on Thursday the committee decided to take back the money to make up the deficit caused by overestimation of tax receipts.

When the committee met Friday morning, Alderman Kelley renewed his fight and succeeded in getting his appropriation restored. He says that the finance committee has no right to assume that the money will be placed back in the sheet in January, for the reason that no one can tell who will be on the committee. However, the members of the finance committee who are in favor of taking the Pryor street fund say that the money will be restored in October, and that Alderman Kelley and his constituents have no cause for alarm as to the replacing of the money.

The $10,000 asked for by the school board is for taking the first steps in reorganizing the school system, as has been outlined by the board for several months, and which was brought to a focus in the report of Miss Farrar, which was submitted to the board Thursday afternoon. The money provides for transferring the normal school from the Girls' high school to the grammar school and increasing the normal faculty; increasing the teaching force in the grammar schools to take care of the new limit of forty pupils to a grade; paying the salary of a primary supervisor as recommended by Miss Farrar, and purchasing equipment for several of the schools.

COLLEGE PARK HOLDS BIG HOME-COMING DAY

Over 2,000 persons took part in the home-coming celebration of College Park Friday morning at the old picnic grounds of that place. Speeches, bango and barbecue featured the program, while field day sports and band playing Georgia Military academy students added much to the enjoyment of the day.

About half of the 2,000 were out-of-town guests, some coming as far from San Francisco. H. S. Wilhelt, president of the College Park Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the home-comers, while Mayor Byron Hule addressed the residents.

C. D. McKinney, of Decatur, spoke on the links interests of College Park and Decatur as residential towns. Other speakers were Dr Lewis Fowler, associate president of Cox college, and Major R. J. Guinn, of Atlanta.

ATLANTA MAN HEADS GEORGIA ECLECTICS

Medical Association Adjourns After Holding Most Profitable Meeting.

The Georgia Eclectic Medical association, which has been in convention for two days at the Winecoff hotel, adjourned Friday afternoon after electing officers as follows: Dr. John Powell, of Atlanta, president; Dr. D. D. Adamson, of Raymond, vice president; Dr. C. H. House, of Kirkwood, secretary; Dr. D. M. Adams, of Atlanta, treasurer.

Addresses of special interest to the profession were made Friday morning by Dr. D. H. Parlament, of Conyers; Dr. A. P. White, of Florida, and Dr. John Powell, of Atlanta. The convention will meet again in Atlanta next year. Delegates of the association will go to the national eclectic medical convention next month in Indianapolis, with the purpose of bringing the national convention to Atlanta next year. This would mean about 1,000 visitors to Atlanta should they succeed.

SIX LAW STUDENTS CHOSEN TO SPEAK IN PRIZE DEBATE

Out of a total of fourteen entrants, six members of the Atlanta Law school were chosen in competitive contest Friday night to take part in the annual public debate of the school, which will be held next Friday night. They will compete at that time for a $20 gold medal that is offered by the faculty for the best debater in the school. The subject of the debate, both at the preliminary contest and in the final, is: "Resolved, That the United States should assume control and take the position of protector over Mexico." The six successful debaters were as follows: Affirmative, Franklin S. Chalmers, A. A. Baumstark and Ernest W. Smith; negative Hewitt W. Chambers, J. Walter LeCraw and S. A. Lokey.

Competition between the contestants was very keen, indicating that the debate next Friday night, which will take place in the Atlanta Law school rooms at Five Points, will be very successful. The judges who chose the six in the preliminary contest were Wharton O. Wilson, a professor in the law school; Basil M. Stockbridge, an alumnus, and James Paul Jones, an attorney of Rome, Ga.

CLOUDS ARE HEAVY, BUT RAIN FAILS

May Temperature Records Smashed on Friday—Price Urges Farmers to Prepare for Precipitation.

Heavy clouds hovered over Atlanta about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and until far beyond twilight inspired gladdening hope in the hearts of pedestrians who have been trodding torrid and simmering pavements for lo! these twenty-two days.

But no sooner had these dark and ominous sisters of the sky begun gathering than all hopes of the thirsty needy were dashed by the weather report which said there would be no rain last night, today and probably Sunday. Now, what's to be done in a case like that—clouds vs. the weather man?

Added to the depressing aridness of the atmosphere, the elements were all the more pitiless Friday by smashing all May temperature records. The thermometer scooted up to 94 degrees at times during the day, and downtown Atlanta sweltered and perspired like overworked stokers.

No relief is in sight. Hearken ye to the weather prediction, pitiless, though it be:

"Fine, clear and warm—very warm—weather is scheduled to continue over Saturday and probably Sunday, as well. Winds will be light northeasterly, and there may be a slight decline in temperature Sunday afternoon and night. No immediate break in the drouth is yet indicated on the weather map."

James D. Price, commissioner of agriculture, sounded a warning to the farmers of the state in regard to the continued drouth which has affected the territory for the past twenty-two days.

Alarmed over the prospect, but optimistic over the outlook for inevitable rain, he urged the farmers to prepare their crops for the downfall that is certain to come soon. During the afternoon the commissioner conferred with Weather Man Von Herrmann, who informed him that there was no relief in sight for at least two or more days.

FREE FOR FOUR YEARS, CONVICT IS CAPTURED

Grant Hood, a negro convict, who escaped from the city stockade four years ago, and has ever since roamed the free man, was arrested in his home at 57 Collier street, Thursday night by Police Sergeant A. D. Luck.

Sergeant Luck, one of the officers who arrested Hood at the time he was sent to the city stockade, has been seeking the escaped convict ever since he managed to get away from the stockade guards.

Thursday night his untiring efforts were rewarded. Luck is police sergeant on the bicycle squad on the night watch. Hood slipped into his home under cover of darkness and made the mistake of his life. He fell asleep. Sergeant Luck made his rounds and usual nightly call at Hood's home and the negro was captured.

Judge Preston Friday afternoon sentenced Hood for fifteen days in addition to his unexpired term.

COMMERCE COMMISSION PROBES B. & O. PURCHASE

C., H. & D. Railroad Has Proved Heavy Burden, Testifies Willard.

Washington, May 29.—Inquiry into the acquisition of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad by the Baltimore and Ohio, with particular reference to possible bearing of this transaction on the latter road's application with other eastern lines for an increase in freight rates, began today before the interstate commerce commission. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, was on the stand all day. At the conclusion of the session Chairman Harlan announced that testimony would be resumed at a date to be made public later.

Mr. Willard said the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton had proved a disappointment, but insisted that the Baltimore and Ohio had been fully justified in all advances made by counsel of the subsidiary. His testimony showed that since the purchase in 1903 up to May 27, 1914, the Baltimore and Ohio had made cash advances to the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton of $21,849,405.

The witness presented figures showing that the funded debt of the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton on December 31 last was $72,000,000. Out of about $18,000,000 which the Baltimore and Ohio had borrowed since the purchase, $6,000,000 had gone direct to the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton. He admitted that in addition to the $72,000,000 of bonds, a large existing obligation on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton to pay Pere Marquette bonds amounting to $9,207,000.

Asked if the Erie had acquired the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton in 1916 from the Pierpont Morgan syndicate and then returned it to Morgan & Co. because E. H. Harriman had objected to the purchase, Mr. Willard said he understood that when the Erie board refused to confirm a tentative agreement to purchase the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton the late J. P. Morgan undertook to relieve the Erie of any obligations.

Before the Baltimore and Ohio purchased the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton Mr. Willard said the conditions to which the Erie objected had been eliminated.

The troubles of the Pere Marquette, said Mr. Willard, "proved a severe blow to the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton."

$50,000 DAMAGE SUIT IS NEARING AN END

Monroe, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The case of E. R. Hill against the Georgia Railway and Banking company for $50,000 damages was likely be completed late Saturday—one of the most notable cases in the legal history of the circuit.

Mr. Hill, a lawyer, for fifteen years claim agent of the road he is now suing, was in a wreck near Social Circle last year. Slightly hurt, it was said, he went about helping those worse off, and for months afterward developed what is said to be spinal trouble which has rendered him a pitiable object, helpless and fearfully crippled, his physicians assert.

The case has attracted wide attention from the unusual features. Many of the Georgia railway officials are witnesses also.

SAVES HER CHILDREN FROM BLAZING HOME

After being awakened by a burning piece of wood falling from the ceiling of her room upon her bed early Friday morning at her home, No. 5 Krog street, Mrs. Harry S. Wingard risked her life to save her three sleeping children, Luther, a 3-months-old baby; Harry, 3 years old, and Robert, 12 years old. The family were all sleeping in the same room of the two-story home in the absence of Mr. Wingard, a night foreman on the Western and Atlantic railroad, who was at work.

Flames were lashing the bed clothing when the sleeping mother was awakened, and the room was filled with smoke. She was sleeping in the same bed with her two youngest, and Robert, the oldest, was sleeping on a cot near by.

The mother bravely groped through the dense smoke to Robert's cot, and dragged him to the window, where the boy quickly revived. Robert leaped out of the window, one story from the ground, to safety.

She returned to her bed, on which the two babies were sleeping. She clasped her babies in her arms, and rushed to the window. Harry, 3 years old, was pitched out of the window to Robert, and then Mrs. Wingard, with her youngest baby in her arms, jumped out of the window to the ground, ten feet below.

Her night gown had caught fire. She had not noticed that her garments were ablaze. With the aid of Robert, her blazing clothing was put out.

The fire department was summoned, but the house was too far gone to be saved. Practically everything was lost.

AUGUSTA BOND ELECTION CREATES MUCH INTEREST

Augusta, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The bond election on Monday has stirred the entire city. A movement to order a part holiday by the business houses, in order that employees may have no excuse for not voting, has been uniformly successful, only four firms of any size refusing to close from 12 noon to 4 p. m., the hours decided upon. A mass meeting was held tonight to further the interest in the matter. Dr. J. R. Littleton was the principal speaker. The Woman's Instead has been asked to use their influence with doubtful or careless voters.

Firemen Building Auto.

Waycross, Ga., May 29.—(Special.) Members of the fire department here in spare time are building automobiles. For some time past they have been getting material together to make a racer and the machine is now rapidly nearing completion. It will be one of the largest runabouts in the city. It is reported one member of the department is figuring on building an airship as soon as the auto racer is out of the way.

Letter Carriers to Meet.

Rome, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The annual convention of the rural letter carriers of the seventh congressional district will be held here Saturday. That day is Decoration day, and a legal holiday in all postoffices. J. B. Lumpkin, president of the district association, has received assurances that a big crowd will be on hand.

HARTLEY GIVEN PARDON BY GOVERNOR SLATON

Governor Tells Why He Freed Man Convicted on Manslaughter Charge.

The grounds upon which Governor Slaton on Thursday pardoned John H. Hartley, serving a term for manslaughter, as published in The Constitution, are contained in the following opinion written by the governor:

"This defendant has been in the penitentiary since the 11th day of December, 1911.

"Prior to the killing he had formed a good reputation and the setting of his wife's father and her relatives are that he was a good husband and was a sober, quiet, industrious citizen.

"Deceased became enamored with Hartley's wife and, over the protests of Hartley, was demonstrative in his attentions to Mrs. Hartley and took her on several occasions to ride. Hartley, tiring from his attentions and deceased ordered Hartley not to speak to him on the subject again.

"According to the testimony of the roommate of the deceased, the deceased went to the door with a pistol when Hartley knocked.

"At the time of the killing Hartley went to see his wife to induce her to return to him and when deceased came to the door opening answered. Eight shots were fired, of which four were fired by each man. Hartley shot first and with his necktie was cut off by a bullet. It is doubtful which shot killed.

"The deceased lost his life because he invaded the sanctity of Hartley's home. In spite of the repeated entreaties on the part of his friends.

"I think in ninety-nine cases out of one hundred the jury would have acquitted the defendant, both on the ground of self-defense and the sanctity of the character of his fireside.

"For these reasons I think Hartley entitled to a pardon, which is granted him.

"This the 28th day of May, 1914.

(Signed) "JOHN M. SLATON,
"Governor."

Mrs. Brooks Believes She Has Found a Clue To Pendant She Lost

Mrs. Walker Brooks, of 212 Ponce de Leon avenue, believes that she has found a clue that will probably aid in the recovery of the valuable diamond pendant which she lost at the Saturday afternoon matinee of Grand Opera.

This pendant contained 165 small diamonds, and one large center stone, placed in platinum. It was one of two pendants of a valuable diamond necklace, which fell from the platinum chain.

Mrs. Brooks' washerwoman a few days after the loss of the diamond pendant found lying on Peachtree street, near the Ponce de Leon apartments, two small links to the necklace.

The washerwoman has been seeking to find the owner of the links for some time, and Friday, while talking to Mrs. Brooks, she happened to mention her find.

Mrs. Brooks carried the necklace and the two links down to Eugene Haynes, a local jeweler, and Mr. Haynes gave it as his opinion that the links were a part of the necklace.

This clue, Mrs. Brooks hopes, will lead to the recovery of the lost pendant from her valuable necklace.

PREACHER PLEADS FOR STOCK COMPANY

Rev. Mr. Memminger Urges Atlantans to Support Lyric Organization and Save the House From Burlesque.

The sincere plea of a minister delivered from the Lyric theater stage last night was made for the lovers of drama to financially support the Lucille LaVerne Stock company in order to prevent the Lyric and the local theatrical situation becoming contaminated by low-priced burlesque productions.

An audience of representative theatergoers packed the show house from pit to balcony and listened intently while the Rev. W. W. Memminger, rector of All Saints' Episcopal church, made his speech.

His address was delivered when the curtain fell upon the second act of last night's performance of "The Repentance of Aunt Mary." A reception was made by Miss Lucille LaVerne, who is head of the stock company here.

The major part of the audience was composed of members of the Atlanta branch of the Drama League, of which Rev. Memminger is vice president. Invitations had been sent every member of the league by the management of the Lyric, and almost the full membership of the organization was represented. The Drama league has already given its indorsement of the LaVerne company.

The LaVerne company has been producing plays at the Lyric for a number of weeks. The box office receipts have fallen short of funds necessary to maintain the organization. Last week it was announced that the company would be forced to quit the house unless more received greater support.

Rev. Memminger, in his plea last night, declared that it was the wish of the Drama league to help support a home organization, and that the LaVerne company was the only organization available. He averred that in justice to drama lovers of the city, a permanent producing company should be maintained in the city, especially during the summer season.

He stated that unless the stock company was definitely assured of support by the middle of next week that the show would be forced to quit Atlanta. He pleaded with the audience to aid its organization in order to rescue the company and to also prevent the Lyric from being turned over to the principal burlesque performances, which would be installed in the Lyric in case the LaVerne company failed.

Miss LaVerne responded, informing the audience of her plans—in event her company remained in the city—to produce a number of shows that would certain great appeal to the lovers of high-class performances. She was also showered with applause.

During the course of his speech, Rev. Memminger asked members of the Drama league and others present to sign agreements at the box office to purchase a weekly number of tickets as a means of assuring the company of support. A large number of agreements were signed at the close of the performance.

CRUSHED BY ARCTIC ICE, EXPLORER'S SHIP SANK

Stefansson and Crew, However, Escape and Are Safe on Island.

Nome, Alaska, May 29.—The 320-ton wooden steam whaler Karluk, flagship of the Canadian government's Arctic exploring expedition, under command of Vilhjalmur Stefansson, was crushed in the ice and sunk January 16 near Herald island, northeast of Siberia. The entire white crew, except Captain Robert A. Bartlett, is on Wrangell island with plenty of food and wood.

Captain Bartlett made his way across the frozen ice to North Cape, Siberia, and then proceeded overland to Whales Bay, Siberia, where he was taken on board the whaler Herman and carried to St. Michael. He is now at St. Michael and information of the Karluk's fate came by radio from that point.

Authorities on the Arctic assume that when the ice closed on the Karluk last January the twenty-four men on board got their supplies out on the ice and along with the dog teams reached land well equipped. It is also assumed also that as soon as the days became sufficiently long for travel Bartlett, accompanied probably by the five Eskimos on board, set out for Herring sea. Probably he drove his dogs over Siberia from North Cape to Whaler Bay.

The month of the Yukon and the roadstead at Nome are free of ice already and it is said the Herman will go to the relief of the Karluk's crew as soon as she can get through Herring strait.

Stefansson is at the mouth of the Mackenzie river, having left the Karluk September 11 to hunt caribou. When he returned to the point where he had expected to find the Karluk had been blown away by a storm. It will not be possible to send dog teams to Wrangell island now, for the ice is rolling.

Wrangell island contains food animals. It is 75 miles in a straight line from North Cape, Whale Bay is 225 miles southeast of North Cape. Wrangell island is a small rocky island.

BEAVERS WRITES ESSAY ON THE SOCIAL EVIL

Police Chief James L. Beavers, head of the Atlanta department of police, is preparing an address to be given upon the problems of the social evil. This essay will be read by the chief before the coming convention of mayors and other city officials, to be held in New York state.

The essay will show the conditions existing before the Atlanta "red light district" was closed, and discuss conditions that exist at present.

It will point out that it is the duty of the police departments of the cities of the country to enforce the law through commercialized vice, as other laws are enforced.

The New Locomobile

With 105 Refinements

NOW ON VIEW

Touch the Button to Start
Something new that every one admired. This was originated by our Engineers and developed by the Westinghouse Company for us.

Left Drive "The Style"

Center Control Is in Favor
The Locomobile driver changes gears with the right hand, the safest and most natural way. Few drivers are left-handed. The Locomobile is the only left-drive quality car. Six with four speeds, controlled by the right hand.

One Man Top Refinements
Storm curtains adjusted and fastened inside of car. Clear vision for driver. Two oval plate glass windows in rear. Adjustable fastening, top to windshield.

Smart Low Lines
The new Locomobile will be greatly admired on account of its low sweeping lines.

The First Electrically Locked Car
An owner can now leave his car feeling that it will not be tampered with or stolen.

A turn of your "Yale" key automatically locks the car dead—ignition, lights—and throws a shorter locks the signal lights on. Another turn—the car is free to operate. The first car to be automatically, electrically and mechanically locked.

The New Mode in Lamps
Aboard you see smooth unbroken lines. We intergrate the lamp construction with side lamps in the head lights. This places the signal lamps in a better position and beautifies the car.

Style Features
The New Radiator. The New Bonnet panelled at the front with vertical openings at the rear in the Continental Style. A longer and more sweeping Cowl. Fine proportion in the Body and Body line. Pure stream line. The new one-piece Fenders are moulded to graceful contours, carrying out the foreign effect.

Style in the Chassis
The Locomobile is the only quality car with six cylinders, four speeds, multiple disc clutch, left drive, and center control.

Four Speed Selective
High grade cars abroad have four speeds, not three. Four speeds are decidedly the thing.

Our Four Car a Day policy is back of all these refinements. The Locomobile Policy is Limited Production and an Exclusive Car. Style and Quality instead of Quantity. Not to see how many cars we can build, but how well.

In addition to our standard bodies, we have ordered special bodies from Kellner et Fils of Paris, Henry Binder of Paris, Bail Jeune Fieres of Paris, and Holbrook of New York. Exclusive upholstery fabrics selected by our artist from patterns imported to our order.

THE CALL OF TECH.

In its local columns today The Constitution tells the story of a campaign launched last night at a meeting of representative citizens, the object of which is to place the Georgia School of Technology upon a basis commensurate with its usefulness to the present and future industrial development of Georgia.

Stated briefly, the plan is to raise a fund of $500,000, payable in installments over five years, in order that the school may be rescued from the cramped facilities and the menace of inefficiency under which it is now struggling.

The phenomenal story of the Georgia School of Technology is a record of the phenomenal industrial expansion of Georgia and the states contiguous. Twenty-six years ago the school was opened with two buildings. Today it has eighteen buildings, and its graduates are on the firing line of industry throughout Georgia, and many of the surrounding states. It is Georgia's one plant for the education of her boys in the technical professions, those professions that have so intimate a bearing on the industrial destiny of the state.

The institution is at an unjust and increasing handicap in the matter of equipment, space and maintenance. As against these embarrassments, it has made steady head until its standard of scholarship is universally acclaimed as among the highest.

But the time has come when the institution no longer can flourish in the face of inadequate facilities and equipment fast wearing out and becoming obsolete. If it is to serve Georgia, and Georgia's industry, as it should, radical expansion must be supplied. To that end it is planned to raise a fund of half a million dollars. Since the manufacturing and industrial interests of Georgia have the larger stake in Tech, as a source of supply for their trained workers, and as a laboratory where cardinal processes and improvements are tested, the appeal is made particularly to the manufacturers and captains of industry in Georgia.

The terms of which they are asked to contribute, detailed elsewhere, are easy and sensible. The fund is to be spent, first, for a new building to house the power and other machinery to the value of $100,000, a gift from northern manufacturers, and only awaiting housing. If outsiders can be this generous, the interests in Georgia that will have most to gain from Greater Tech cannot afford to be less public spirited.

The money the industrial interests of Georgia invest in the Tech will not be a benefaction. It will be in the nature of a business investment, returning dividends in the shape of well-trained workers and splendid, up-to-date research facilities. If ever Georgia is to reap its industrial destiny, it must be supplied at these sources. The Tech is the one source of supply.

The other needs of the school are outlined. They are many. Each day they become more pressing. Unless they soon are met, the school will either be permanently crippled or placed at a fatal disadvantage with other states in the matter of supplying a focal center for industrial expansion. The subscription lists will not be confined to manufacturers. Each Georgian, with a realization of the mission of Tech, will be expected to do his duty by himself and by Tech. Considering the practical nature of the project, the campaign now launched should be completed in record time.

TO J. PLUVIUS—"S. O. S."

We have had drouths a little more protracted than the present one of twenty-two days, but they have not occurred at so unpropitious a moment, when almost every crop that feeds and clothes and enriches is waiting the magic touch of moisture to swing into its lusty summer growth, and to strengthen its vitality against the siege of withering heat now approaching.

It is not the farm alone that suffers and pants for showers. The past few years have witnessed a wonderful multiplication of the kitchen garden in the cities, lightener of the poor man's cost of living, friend to the man of sedentary employment. The city flowers and shrubbery, meant to break the monotony of serried lines of dwellings and to bring a dash of color and sweetness to urban existence, droop and pine. The lowly, but useful, cabbage condoles with the briar-rose, and both seem to the elements an "S. O. S." call. Motoring is a burden to the flesh. Dust reigns supreme.

What's wrong with Mr. von Herrmann, that good and skillful rainmaker, himself a kitchen gardener? Has his hand lost its cunning? Does he propose to be browbeaten by the mere weather? Out in Texas, which scorched all last summer without rain, they are having too much rain. Here in Georgia, which last summer was recipient of choicest bounties in the way of showers, the country, save in a few isolated south Georgia counties, is dry as—well, as dry as the navy will be after the Daniels' anti-jinjam order becomes effective.

The one, if slim, consolation is that it can't last much longer. We do hope that slothful, negligent and seemingly malignant J. Pluvius, so kind to Atlanta and Georgia for grand opera and Shriner weeks, will forthwith relent. If he requires burnt offerings he has them already in his exasperated and helpless subjects in field and town.

NOT "PSYCHOLOGICAL."

Most of the policies of President Wilson The Constitution has found pleasure in supporting, not from the perfunctory standpoint of partisan duty, but because of their virile appeal from mental, moral and economic angles. We confess to a little bewilderment and decided, though friendly, dissension regarding the views on business legislation he expressed recently to representatives of industry from all over the country. The delegation had called on him to request that he abate for the time being all legislation of this nature, save one measure providing for an interstate trade commission. They told the president that such procedure was indispensable to the quick restoration of business to normal proportions.

To this plea the president made answer that he was not unaware of the depression prevailing. He said, however, that it was to be credited to sources "merely psychological," and that there was no sound reason why prosperity should not be prevalent. He said also that it was uncertainty that blocked business, and he proposed to end it by procedure with a rather extensive program looking to business regulation and "trust-busting."

Depression cannot be "psychological" when it is based on a slowing down in every avenue of activity. For final proof there was nothing "psychological" about the saluting but unprofitable thing in the shape of currency and tariff reform, performed on the country. It was as though surgeons had removed a leg and an arm from a patient, for badly needed disorders and in perfectly legitimate fashion. The patient has not yet recovered from these two operations in themselves legitimate. His condition is not "psychological," but actual, positive. He is recuperating, and that process also is positive and not "psychological." If, now, this patient, on the road to health, but not yet there, is to be subjected to still more operations, the effect, whether you call it "psychological" or not, will leave that patient's vitality so impoverished that he may be years in getting over it.

The Constitution realizes, with the president, that there are ills in the economic machinery of this country that need adjustment, as provided in democratic pledges. We do not advocate piling those ills on the shelf. We do advocate postponing their fulfillment until the country has adapted itself to the two radical operations through which it recently has passed. If we go into the coming autumn with the handicap of having to adapt the entire business structure to a line of trust laws, the effect is going to be hurtful, since the patient already is weak. If we let the health-bringing influences of the new tariff and currency systems get in their influence this fall, to the end of reviving prosperity, then undertake further needed operations, we shall silence our partisan critics and give business the rest for which it positively is clamoring.

"Uncertainty!" Surely! But it is not going to alleviate uncertainty to thrust business, already below par in strength, out into a new and unexplored wilderness of rules and regulations. It is going to intensify the depression, and whether it is called "psychological" or not, the political and other chickens will come home to roost as sure as two and two make four.

The president has shown himself to possess, always, an open mind. For the sake of his splendid reputation for sanity, The Constitution hopes sincerely his second thought on this subject so close to the welfare of the country and the salvation of the party, will be his best thought.

I listen to the whisper of the wind that waves the trees,
Friend to all the blossoms—brother to the breeze!

(Glad life, my honey,
Life of sweetest dreams;
Love is more than money,
An' I love the fields and streams!)

I hear the bees a-hummin'—they're workin' for their lives—
They'll tilt the lilies over till the honey's in the hives;
"Place of calm contentment—never time to sigh!"
Says the tinkle of the cornblades when the wind is going by.

(Glad life, my honey,
Life of joy an' ease,
Wellin' what you want to
An' singin' when you please!)

A Luminous Vision.

Must have been one of George Bailey's redheaded girls from Texas that caused Tom Thompson to write in The Howard Courant:

"Ab Criger was talking to a farmer about his cattle when she passed by and when he noticed that his auditor was not longer listening, but was standing at a dead point at something up the street. Ab turned and looked—and he never finished his sentence, but lost all consciousness of anything on earth but that red blaze of glory. And when the girl passed around the corner he stepped along to get a last look, and forgetting that he was walking and not floating in the air he fell off the sidewalk into a pile of sand. But finally nobody saw him. For everybody was looking at the red-headed girl. When her visit was over and she left town, it seemed as if a lowering cloud had dimmed the sun's rays, and even the White Way had lost its illuminating power."

His Dream and Joy.

Thus sings Folger McKinsey of the joy of life:

"My dream is not the flame,
But the challenge of the game;
My joy is not the crown,
But to go with men go down,
And taking with them there
Of burdens sore my share,
Be something in this stress
Of effort strong and sweet—
A lifting and a light,
With one blow in the fight

All Along the Line With George Fitch

JOHN MILTON.

John Milton was an Englishman who was born in 1608 and who spent his youth until the age of twenty-five in deep study. He was a frail, light-haired boy with gentle manners and while in Christ's college at Cambridge he did not go out with the fellows at night and tip over watchmen as was the custom of those times. For this reason he was nicknamed "The Lady of Christ's" by a large number of hearty roysterers who did not have been completely and appallingly extinct for two and a half centuries.

Milton went home at the age of twenty-five, distended with learning and proceeded to write another bale of Latin and Greek literature. In dispair his father, who eked out a hard living as a scrivener, asked him when he was going to get a job. Milton replied that he intended to become a great poet and take his pay in glory. His father's share in the said glory would be to support him to the end of his days and leave him his fortune. There are many reasons why England should be thankful that Milton's father was a real sport and took up the job without a murmur.

Young Milton now began composing poems and pamphlets in Latin which was the literary language of that day, the English language not having been thought sufficiently about the edges to make good poetry. He wrote about Nightingales and Ladies and May Mornings and the Death of a Fair Infant, much as poets do today. But he also wrote religious and political treatises full of ponderous and devastating words which rumbled over his opponents creating great havoc and destruction. He was a terror to England.

Learning was very highly thought of in those days and the man who could reach down into a bin full of expensive words and hurl a handful among the enemy was highly regarded as several degrees greater than a soldier. He also needed to be several times braver than a soldier as he was far more apt to get worst with a bullet in a vital spot, while men who wrote and talked too much were still being frowned upon generally in merrie England. Milton won as many battles in the reformation as any knight. He was a terror to the enemy of the commonwealth who dared discharge a torrent of abuse in a pamphlet. Milton would shoot back with a two-pound charge of solid logic which no one could resist and few could understand. Even when King Charles's head came back to England, Milton kept blazing away in black-letter bombardments, though this was as reckless a bravery as being an American in Mexico is today. That was the kind of a lady Milton was.

Milton was Latin secretary during the commonwealth and worked himself blind in office. In his later years, he retired from the odor of King Charlie's court and wrote "Paradise Lost" and "Paradise Regained"—two mighty poems which admired by all, even by those who have not read them. But best were his sonnets. Few men could hew their way through the English with a political pamphlet the way Milton did when he was standing casually alone and the executioner was running his thumb along the edge of his axe in a suggestive manner.

Milton's first wife left him in a few months and he wrote the first appeal for reasonable divorce that was ever published in England, being about 300 years in advance of public sentiment, which is just catching up with him.

HARRISBURG, PA.

Harrisburg was settled in 1791 on the wild frontier, 100 miles west of Philadelphia, where a ferry across the Susquehanna River at this point was operated. Being in the city, the river has grown greatly and is now so deep that it would not be waded by a giraffe, thanks to the municipal dam.

In 1812 the capital of Pennsylvania was moved to Harrisburg, being to the advance of a distressingly large number of legislators began to become prosperous. However, Harrisburg did not let well enough alone and capitol business as some American cities. It secured steel mills and coal mines interests, and when the Pennsylvania railroad stretched its first tentacle across the state it established shops in the city. By reason of all these enterprises Harrisburg has become a place of 70,000 people and could thunder along in an unhurried manner if it didn't have any capitol at all.

By reason of its capitol, however, Harrisburg has participated in a large amount of history. The famous Harrisburg convention, which started the first high tariff campaign, was held in Harrisburg in 1824.

In 1839 Harrisburg outdid itself by holding a national political convention and nominating Harrison and Tyler for the same days a good deal of political history has been written in the city, most of the indictments have been quashed.

Harrisburg once adopted a celebrated plan of municipal reform which included a Bicameral and other terrifying inventions, but the plan was not contagious and did not infect the legislature of the state.

Harrisburg is noted for its municipal enterprise which led it to spend vast sums for improvements, and for its state capitol, which cost $4,000,000 a few years ago. This capitol is one of the most beautiful whited sepulchres in the world, and contains the reputation of the men who built its and reputations having passed away shortly after its completion.

Many famous politicians have gotten their training in Harrisburg, and James Buchanan once lingered there long enough to persuade the legislature to elect him to congress. Harrisburg is also the home of the greatest statesman who ever played ball in the National League—Governor John Tener.

THE ZEBRA.

The zebra is a horse which looks as if it was serving a sentence for bank robbery.

Nature seems to have devoted much of its time in early days designing quaint and interesting animals for Africa. When she came to the zebra she went into art quite extensively and gave him a beautiful coat of stripes, though the zebra has never done anything to deserve them. Those who have seen a herd of zebras wandering idly over the African veldt say that hardly believe that they have not been decorated by a sign painter.

The zebra is not as large as the plain horse and is not so angular in design. He lives a wild free life on the African plains and displays the same fondness for exercise that very few of him are in captivity. Catching a zebra is almost as unprofitable an operation as impounding an electric current by grabbing a live wire firmly with both hands. The zebra is as wily as a fox and he is also an experienced and talented biter. Those who have saddled the zebra and have ridden him have been more than merely to do. After they have recovered they have usually tried some other feat, such as riding a piano box in a cyclone.

Owing to his earnest objection to be harnessed, the zebra has not been able to make himself useful except by contributing his skin to science and to the arts. This has been exceedingly hard on the zebra, as it is necessary to shoot him in order to get him to consent to part with his skin. Vast numbers of zebras have been shot, and there are now hardly enough left to supply the large and growing circus trade.

The zebra reminds us of the handsome young magnate's son, who leads a wild, free life, kicking his way skilfully through all conventions and reclining to become useful under any excuse whatever. Only in the case of the magnate's son it is impossible to shoot him and skin him without meeting with criticism from the humane society. However, it may some day be possible as well as profitable to exhibit him to a busy world in menageries along with the zebra instead of in the society and scandal columns.

DAILY GRIST from the STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

SLATON AND HOOPER DON'T AGREE ON SUBJECT OF CONVICT LABOR

When Governor Hooper, of Tennessee, was in Atlanta on Thursday inspecting the convict system of Georgia, he paid his respects to Governor Slaton in the executive offices at the state house. The two governors talked for an hour or more on the subject of the proper handling of convicts, but apparently without bringing their views, which were much at variance, any closer together.

Governor Hooper rather favored the system which is used in Tennessee of making the convicts work at various trades which are furnished by the state's manufacturing and industrial enterprises, thereby teaching the prisoners a trade of some sort. Governor Hooper was also in favor of furnishing a system of education for convicts with the idea of showing them the error of their way and turning them out of the penitentiary better equipped for citizenship.

Governor Slaton contended, however, that there are many honest, hard working and law-abiding citizens who are no better equipped for life's work than are the convicts, and that it would be much more advisable and profitable to spend the people's money upon this class of people who are really trying to help themselves than to spend it upon the convicts, who might or might not avail themselves of the advantages which such equipment would offer, and who must certainly owe something to society rather than society owing something to them.

Governor Slaton pointed out that the state provides an institution where educational advantages are offered to convicts yet in the formative stage of life, and contended that after a man has reached the age of twenty-five he has formed his habits and his vocation of life. When educational advantages are offered to convicts who have reached the age of manhood and such advantages are not offered to law-abiding citizens, thinks Governor Slaton, it would tend to place a premium upon crime rather than go for a better citizenship by encouraging better living.

The use of convict labor in trades, too, argued the governor of Georgia, is an unfair competition.

"The large percentage of Georgia convicts," said Governor Slaton, "are negroes. Statistics will show that in the days of slavery, when negroes worked in the country and the open air and lived largely that way in their log cabins, tuberculosis, which is now a menace to the negro race was a negligible enemy. The working of the convicts on the road today, and teaching them sanitary habits, I am told, is doing much for their health.

"Furthermore, it costs the tax-payers money to maintain the convict camps. I know of no more equitable way of giving the tax-payers value received for the money expended in this way than by the building of good roads. It is hardly necessary to elaborate upon the benefits to be derived from good roads in the enhancement of property values, easy access to schools, et cetera."

TAX INHERITANCE LAW PROVES REMUNERATIVE SMALL COLLECTION

The fact that but $340 in inheritance taxes has been collected to date in Fulton county, is by no means to be considered as an indication of the failure of the law, in the opinion of Governor Slaton and Comptroller General A. W. Wright.

"The law only went into effect on the first of January of this year," said the comptroller, "and the law does not require that any tax be collected until one year after the death of the decedent. In view of this no inheritance tax at all is yet due to be collected. The ordinaries and the tax collectors have been instructed regarding the inheritance tax law, and I have no doubt these officials are attending to their duties in this respect diligently."

Governor Slaton is of the opinion that the state is already receiving moral benefit from the inheritance tax law, by its emphasizing upon tax payers the necessity of reporting all property for taxation to avoid having heavy back taxes collected upon property at the death of the owner.

STATE TREASURER SPEER RECEIVES FAVORABLE COMMENT FROM PRESS

State Treasurer W. J. Speer, who is a candidate to succeed himself is receiving much favorable comment from the state press. The following is taken from The Sandersville Georgian, of recent issue:

"State Treasurer Speer has announced his candidacy. In all of the state papers, as he knows this is the best method of reaching the people. He has made a fine record as state treasurer and deserves re-election. If a farmer employs a good and reliable farm hand he will not want to make him give up his job because somebody else wants it. The same rule should apply to state officials.

"There is not a more competent and faithful official in the state than Treasurer Speer and all who know him admire him. He is a splendid man and has many friends throughout the state, especially those who have known him for many years."

CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS EVANS ON TOUR OF THE TENTH DISTRICT

Thomson, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—Hon. A. W. Evans, of Sandersville, candidate for congress in this district, will speak here tomorrow morning on the issues of the campaign.

Colonel Evans is making an aggressive campaign as is shown by the large number of speeches he is making and the active canvass he is engaging in in the district. He spoke tonight at Harrisburg and tomorrow afternoon will speak at Jewels, on the Hancock and Warren county line. He will spend most of next week in Columbia county.

CLOSE CONTEST FOR STATE SENATE BETWEEN GILLIS AND DEAL

Swainsboro, Ga., May 28.—(Special.)—Interest in the race for the state senate in this district is beginning to manifest itself sharply. Two candidates are in the field: N. L. Gillis, of Soperton, and L. L. Deal, of Swainsboro. Mr. Deal at one time represented Johnson county in the legisla-re, while Mr. Gillis is very popular. The s, as it stands, is a hard one.

Judge Walter M. Clements, of East has come over to Emanuel county, and his friends are very enthusiastic. He makes frequent visits here.

Judge Frank H. Saffold, his friends claim, is decidedly in the lead for judge of the middle circuit over his opponents, Judge E. B. Sturgis, of Statesboro, and R. N. Hardman, of Louisville. Mr. Saffold loses no time in attending the numerous school closings about the circuit.

JUDGE KIMSEY MAY ENTER APPELLATE COURT CONTEST

Gainesville, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—In an open letter to the people of this county, Judge J. J. Kimsey, former judge of the northeastern circuit, and who tied Judge Jones, each having ten delegates, but retired from the race on account of Judge Jones receiving the largest popular vote, states that he will be a candidate for the judgeship at the coming primary, owing to the fact that Judge Jones has only had the place for one term.

In his letter Judge Kimsey also says that he is being solicited by friends to enter the race for the judgeship of the court of appeals to fill the place made vacant by the resignation of Judge Allen H. Hill, now occupied by Judge L. S. Roan. Judge Broyles, of Atlanta, and Mr. Stephens, also of Atlanta, are the only two in the race for the judgeship of the appellate court, Judge Roan not entering for re-election.

Judge Kimsey says that he is not yet ready to say for certain that he will run.

SLATON AND HARDMAN LEAD WITH THE VOTERS OF WHITFIELD

Dalton, Ga., May 28.—(Special.)—The political situation in Whitfield county is keeping well apace with the weather, and is growing warmer each day. Contests are being waged for practically every office in the county and from now until the primary, which will be on the day fixed by the state committee, August 15, the county will be thoroughly canvassed.

The following is a list of candidates for the various offices: Representative, N. A. Bradford and M. C. Tarver; sheriff, Charles Cunningham, J. H. Gilbert, J. S. Anderson and F. J. Vining; clerk, J. D. Field and W. M. Sapp; receiver of tax returns, W. A. Broadrick, M. M. Hall, J. M. Palmer, S. F. Westbrook; tax collector, J. W. Brooker and J. T. Nichols; treasurer, C. C. Maples, Joe Loner, C. S. Carey, T. J. Caldwell, J. M. Coker, J. M. Cagle and "Uncle Joe" Smith, with possibly others to follow.

J. M. Neel, jr., of Cartersville, and J. M. Lang, of Calhoun, are aspirants to the position of prohibition general of the Cherokee circuit.

So far, only the candidate for a statehouse position has visited the county, he being Dr. L. B. Hardman. While here he received quite an assurance of support.

None of the contestants for senatorial honors have visited here. The general sentiment seems to be in favor of Hardman and Slaton.

SENATORIAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE TO MEET IN ATHENS, JUNE 6

Athens, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The senatorial executive committee of the thirtieth district of Georgia has been called to meet in Athens on Saturday, June 6, at the office of Joe L. Deadwyler, secretary of the committee, W. E. Whitehead, former senator, is chairman. Clarke county is represented by J. Y. Carithers, a former senator, and J. L. Deadwyler; Madison, by W. E. Whitehead and J. S. Daniel; Oglethorpe, by Paul Brown, and Elbert by W. R. Adams and M. L. Heard. Rules and regulations will be adopted for the holding of the primary election.

Dr. Stovall, of Elberton, is the only candidate announced, it being Elbert's time, by the old rotation plan, to furnish the senator to succeed H. T. DuBose, now senator, from Clarke.

A Good Sentiment To Pass Down the Line

Philadelphia, May 27, 1914.

Editor Constitution:

Mr. E. C. Simmons, of Soldiers' Home, has a lot in a few words in the following expression of business optimism with which he began a recent letter in the salesmen of the Simmons Hardware company:

"DON'T WORRY.

"War or no war, freight rates or no freight rates, tariff or no tariff, baseball or no baseball, politics or no politics, the farmer is still on the job.

"DON'T WORRY HIM."

DOING NOTHING
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

The hardest thing in this world for a healthy man is to Do Nothing. The real Idle are a menace to the community. Because they are either ill or abnormal. No human being ever stalks on this earth with health and really takes pleasure in Doing Nothing.

Once let a man realize that he is Strong and Healthy and you can't keep him from working any more than you can keep him from eating. For it is a natural hunger.

The man who Does Nothing is worse than a robber. For the robber may steal from someone who may not miss the theft or care, but the Idle and Shiftless rob not only themselves, but every man, woman and child in society, thus benefiting every Idle man and woman to some extent.

Do Something. No matter how trivial, so long as it is to some purpose, and little by little day by day, you cannot help but rise and grow, limiting your Success only by the height of your Ideals.

Accepting Mars.

The vestal, Peace, now stands beside the gates
Of Janus, and she seeks to close them late.
In sorrow looks she on, the while she waits—
And sighs, "Must I be here?" The country might
Of Mars is near us, now, and, through the land
Wars loud alarm sounds. Hark! to his tread!
He marches fast; we hear his loud command,
And see him drawing nigh with upreared head.
We love sweet Peace, but Justice more than she.
Accept we even Mars, when at her call:
And, so, grim Mars shall, then, her servant be,
Shall bow his head to Justice—that goddess grand.
Revered by all in this, our own free land.

"John, John," exclaimed little Mrs. Jones, as she rushed into her husband's library in a state of nervous excitement, "what do you think the cook his done?"

"Can't imagine," came the reply. "Forgotten to break something, eh?"

Mrs. Jones wrung her hands.

"Oh, John, do be serious!" she begged. "Cook actually poured petrol on the kitchen fire to make it burn up!"

"Well, Penelope, and didn't it explode?"

"Yes—I should think it did! It nearly blew the silly woman through the window!"

"Oh, well," remarked the husband, "it wouldn't really have mattered if it had blown her right through it." This is her afternoon out anyway, I believe."

HARVEY HATCHER WILL SUCCEED WALTER RICH

Second Ward Member of the Board of Education Has Made Fine Record.

Reports around the city hall for several days to the effect that Walter Rich will not be re-elected a member of the school board were verified yesterday when Councilman McCord, who has the voice of the second ward delegation, declared that Harvey Hatcher, ex-councilman from the second ward, will be nominated.

Commissioner Rich is one of the most aggressive members of the board. He has given considerable thought and study to the school system of Atlanta, and has also studied the systems in other cities. Since he has been on the board he has applied his knowledge to good effect, and many of his ideas have materially aided the school department to increase the efficiency of the schools.

It is understood that Commissioner Rich was not ambitious to seek the place for another term, but his friends recently urged him to try for another term, and they have gone to the front in his behalf.

Alderman C. H. Kelley and Councilman C. D. Knight stated Friday that they were taking no hand in the nomination of the school commissioner from the second ward, and explained that they have given Councilman McCord carte blanch in the matter, and that they will abide by his selection. Councilman McCord, when asked, verified the report when he declared that Harvey Hatcher will be named in council on Monday.

This means that Hatcher will get the place. It is the unwritten rule in council that the choice of the ward delegation shall be the selection of council.

Friends of Commissioner Rich say that he will not allow his name to be offered in opposition to the wishes of the ward delegation, and that he will step out from the board this week. Commissioner Rich's term expired on May 28.

Commissioner W. H. Terrell, whose term has also expired, will be nominated for re-election and will be returned the member from the first ward.

A. B. C. MEDIATORS RECEIVE DELEGATE

acceptance by President Wilson of the invitation extended by the South American envoys was cited.

The president said:

"This government hopes most earnestly that you may find those who speak for the several elements of the Mexican people willing and ready to discuss terms of settlement. If you should find them willing, this government will be glad to take up with you proposals that may be authoritatively formulated."

The arrival of the Carranza emissary was regarded with evident satisfaction by the American delegates. They are understood to be anxious that negotiations be reopened to admit Carranza delegates to the mediation conference.

Progress on the agreement between the United States and the Huerta government was slow today.

ACCEPTANCE OF NOTE DEMANDED BY CABINET.

Washington, May 29.—Mexican mediation was discussed at the cabinet meeting today and the administration took a positive position that the communication forwarded to the mediators at Niagara Falls by General Carranza, chief of the constitutionalist forces, should be received.

President Wilson announced to the cabinet that General Carranza has addressed a note to the mediation conference seeking representation. Details of the Carranza message were not discussed, but it later was declared the administration took the view that the constitutionalist chief should not be ignored.

While the cabinet was in session, word came from Niagara Falls that there was some doubt whether Juan Urquidi, agent of Carranza, had left from Washington with the message, would be received. Later it was learned the administration had directed the American representatives at the peace conference to urge that Carranza's message be accepted.

When word came late today that the mediators had agreed to receive Carranza's communication, government officials expressed the opinion that this would lead ultimately to constitutionalist participation in the mediation proceedings. On just what terms the constitutionalists might be received, administration leaders remained silent.

Representatives of Carranza here announced that the nature of the communication would not be made public until the mediators had passed on its contents. Secretary Bryan, informed of the mediators' decision, conferred with C. A. Douglas, an attorney representing Carranza, and John Lind. Douglas and Lind Lind having been negotiating with Carranza's representatives and the secretary of state for several days, and the sending of Urquidi to Niagara Falls was a result of these deliberations, it was said.

Arms From Jap Vessels.

Secretary Bryan today said the navy department was seeking to get more information concerning the reported landing of arms by the German steamer Ypiranga and the Bavaria, and the secretary also discussed with the Japanese ambassador unofficial reports that Japanese vessels had delivered arms at Mexican west coast ports.

ASK HALF MILLION FOR DEVELOPMENT

pressed with the generous donations of northern manufacturers, secured through the efforts of Dr. K. G. Matheson and P. V. Stephens, and realizing the urgent need of the new power plant and the great value of the proposed engineering experiment station at Tech for state industrial development, be it

"Resolved, That we co-operate in every possible way in the present effort to provide immediately the necessary funds for the erection and completion of the new power plant and equipment."

An executive committee, composed of the following gentlemen, was organized to take the direction of the campaign: Allen Johnson, Brooks Morgan, J. K. Orr, Mell R. Wilkinson, Charles J. Haden, Phineas V. Stephens will act as general campaign manager. A working committee of seventy-five leading manufacturers and business men is being organized. It will be divided into sub-committees under the direction of the executive committee, and today or Monday a campaign to cover a period of ten days will be begun. While the campaign will center in Atlanta and its success will depend on the support of the interests in greater Atlanta, it will not be confined entirely to this city, and the manufacturing and mercantile interests throughout the whole state will be given an opportunity to contribute.

Existing Conditions.

Existing conditions in Georgia Tech, as told of in last night's meeting, were a surprise to the majority of those present. In 1885 Tech began with five buildings. Within twenty-six years it has grown into a magnificent institution of eighteen buildings; over a thousand men each year crowd its class rooms and laboratories. Its splendid body of alumni hold many of the most influential positions in the industrial field in the greater southern states.

But the old power plant erected as a part of the old shop building twenty-six years ago is still being made to do duty for the greatly-enlarged school. It is inadequate, and today Georgia Tech has reached a point where further development is practically impossible without a new power plant. Prospects for greatly increased growth the school now labors under financial difficulties and insufficient equipment to properly care for the thousand men who already attend annually.

The school needs a power plant, with an ample supply of steam for heating and power; electricity, both alternating and direct currents; a good supply of compressed air; high pressure water service for fire protection and hydraulic experiments; an economical refrigerating plant; an adequate intercommunicating telephone system, connecting all the eighteen buildings; more and better scientific equipment in all the laboratories and shops; better office equipment for routine work; improved lighting fixtures in many departments; an adquate conduit system connecting the buildings on the campus; additional dormitories for assistants and a larger annual working income.

Facts were presented at the meeting showing that the state of Georgia, although next in state and population to Texas, contributes less to technical education than any other southern state, except Florida. It was shown that out of the fourteen representative technological schools of this country Georgia Tech has very nearly the average enrollment, while its amount of equipment is far below the average, and the amount of money spent per student enrolled is very low compared to the average, only two of the fourteen schools showing an expenditure of less money per man than Tech.

The present campaign is strictly a home proposition, as shown by the following figures: Eighty-five per cent of the students enter Georgia Tech from the state of Georgia, 75 per cent of the graduates are from Georgia, 85 per cent of the graduates are at work in Georgia, over 66 per cent of the graduates not in Georgia are in neighboring southern states; consequently, Georgia Tech is interested in the young men of Georgia and the welfare of Georgia.

Three-fourths of the important manufacturing states of the union maintain engineering institutions, supported by their state schools, which are supported liberally by the industrial and public service corporations. The majority of the best engineering colleges in the United States are liberally endowed by friends of the schools. The services of the experiment stations are recognized as very valuable in industrial development. It is planned that greater Georgia Tech shall render this same service to the state of Georgia, and conservative manufacturers have said it will be the greatest thing that ever happened in Georgia for the promotion of wealth.

The proposal outlined at the meeting was to present this great opportunity of bettering Tech's condition to the engineers, manufacturers and allied industries throughout the state of Georgia. The plan has been unanimously approved and authorized by the board of trustees of the school. That the plan be so devised that these industries, by close co-operation with the school, raise a fund sufficient to conform to the terms of the manufacturers making this liberal offer.

This fund to be large enough to provide for the erection of a power house building, to improve and enlarge the laboratories to such an extent that a central research department can be established for the benefit of engineers, manufacturers and specialists interested in the development of Georgia's resources. By the establishment of this central research bureau transportation facilities, highways, water power and facties will profit greatly in having an equipment close at hand where their problems can be worked out on practical lines.

How the Money Will Be Spent.

The first year's portion of the fund will be devoted to erection of the power plant building and the installation and perfection of equipment already donated.

One-half of the fund ($50,000) each year for four years, which will be known as the manufacturers' endowment, will be invested in sound interest-bearing securities, the income from which will provide for the maintenance and operation of the power plant and laboratories, thus making this department self-supporting and permanent in efficiency.

The remaining half of the fund ($50,000) each year for four years would be expended on much needed equipment in laboratories for research and development work.

The New Building.

The new power plant and laboratory will be one of the best colleges and stations in the United States. It will provide alternating and direct currents for lighting the school, power for the shops, laboratories and general experimental purposes; steam at both low and high pressure, saturated and super-heated for driving the engines, steam turbines, pumps and other machinery, and for supplying an adequate amount of heat for the eighteen buildings on the campus.

The new station will enable the school to give a better training to the engineering students in all departments and will afford excellent opportunities for the solution of problems for the men in industrial power plants and industrial work.

This building will mark the beginning of a greater Georgia Tech and will commence a new era in the successful and larger development of the school.

It has been agreed by the faculty that if some wealthy person will donate a fund of sufficient proportions to justify it this new building will be built as a memorial to the patron, making this donation or any relative or friend he may designate.

Endowment Certificate Plan.

Those who contribute a sum of $100 to $500 annually for a period of five years will receive certificates representing the amount subscribed, and these certificates will represent the contributor's relation with the school in the co-operative plan for the state-wide industrial development. The holders of these certificates will be entitled to special privileges in the laboratories for research and engineering work, and the school will further offer every possible assistance in the development of new ideas, new products, better ways of transportation, better industrial conditions, higher degree of safety in all lines of industrial work.

It will entitle the patron to participate in the annual electrical and manufacturers' show of the school where he will be provided free of charge with electricity, steam compressed air, water, etc., for exhibiting purposes and he will be supplied with detailed information each year relative to the graduates and students, which will enable him to extend his advertising first hand to the young engineers who are soon to be the captains of industry in the state of Georgia and the south.

The co-operative plan for securing the necessary $500,000 for the erection of the new power station and equipment of the laboratories of the school, as outlined herein, have been heartily indorsed by Governor John M. Slaton, the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of Georgia, the board of trustees of the school, the faculty, the student body, influential members of the Rotary and Ad Men's clubs, the presidents of many of the leading manufacturing and public service corporations of the state, and conservative engineers and business men, and many prominent alumni.

Resolutions were presented from the student body of Tech emphasizing the necessity of erecting a new power plant, and individually and collectively indorsing the campaign.

Resolutions were also presented from the fourteenth annual convention of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of Georgia, promising that organization's co-operation in the work.

Dr. Matheson's Address.

"The Georgia School of Technology exists for the service of the state," said Dr. K. G. Matheson, president of Tech. "Despite inadequate support, it has achieved some results which are gratifying to Georgians. But the limit of its usefulness has been reached in its present plant and equipment. Immediate development of the school is imperative if its service is to be maintained and its efficiency increased; and the greatest need of this development is an adequate power station, both for service and for instruction and research. Realizing the school's needs and opportunities, strangers in other states have supplied a marvelous equipment valued at over $100,000 for the station. Will not Georgians be equally generous to their own institution and provide an adequate building in which to house this equipment? Otherwise it will be lost, and the school will be restricted to its present outworn and outgrown plant.

"With the new power station, Tech's growth in usefulness and efficiency will be epochal. Not only will the student output be much more efficient, but the school will begin its era of vits' usefulness as the engineering experiment station of the state. MOTHER OF TRIPLETS REQUESTS HELP OF GOVERNOR SLATON

Governor Slaton spent several hours Friday morning searching the laws of Georgia to ascertain whether or not he is empowered to be of financial assistance to a mother of triplets.

He has received a letter from such a mother, who states that she is in need of assistance, and that she understood the state was able to help her.

The governor was unable to find authority to help her, but declares that he believes from the letter that this is a worthy object of private philanthropy.

HOOPER AND HIS PARTY LEAVE FOR TENNESSEE

After spending the better part of two days studying Georgia's convict system, Governor Hooper, of Tennessee, and the committee with him, left for Tennessee Friday afternoon.

The party inspected Rockdale convict camp Friday morning.

Governor Hooper was impressed by the humane treatment now accorded convicts and with the camp conditions, but believes that Georgia loses sight of the man too much. "The man should receive full attention even at the sacrifice of a little of the attention given the road on which he works," said Tennessee's governor.

The Wrong Quarter.

(From Judge.)

Before the railroads had penetrated south Florida, land was very cheap and passed from one to another for a mere song, as the saying is. At one time an old Florida cracker went before a notary to make an affidavit, and after the paper had been drawn he asked what the fee was.

"Oh, about a quarter," replied the notary indifferently.

"My gracious! ain't that purty steep?" asked the Cracker.

"No, that's the least charge. Usually we get a half."

The cracker went away, and the next day returned with a deed to a quarter section. He handed it to the notary, who read it over carefully.

"I meant 25 cents," said he," passing the deed back to the cracker.

MANIA FOR MARRIAGE WAS DEBORE'S UNDOING

After Third Marriage He Is Brought Back to Griffin in Irons.

Griffin, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—Sheriff L. D. Hudson returned to Griffin tonight from St. Joseph, Mo., bringing with him Will Debore, a man who has a mania for marrying and afterwards breaking other laws, which, it seems, invariably lands him in jail.

Debore is known to have married three times, all of the women being alive; to have children by all of them, and to have been in jail three times.

Debore came to Griffin some five or six years ago from north Georgia, where he left a wife and several children. Shortly after coming here, under the name of Will Bowman, he married a Miss Weaver, of Spalding county. A child was born to her. Shortly afterwards he attacked Dr. T. J. Collins one night on the public highway and robbed him. He was arrested and convicted of highway robbery and assault. On the first charge he was given two years and on the second four years.

Debore was transferred from the Spalding county camp to the Monroe county camp. After serving five months he escaped.

Sheriff Hudson exhausted every effort to locate him. Finally he received a letter from the chief of police of St. Joseph, Mo., in which a picture of Debore was inclosed.

Ten days ago Sheriff Hudson went to St. Joseph and found that Debore was in jail there serving a term for highway robbery. Under the name of Jack James he had married there and during his confinement in jail his wife gave birth to a girl baby.

Debore was heavily ironed when he returned. He had made threats that he would never return to Georgia.

MEN AND RELIGION BULLETIN No. 118

"IT IS FINISHED"

"The times of ignorance therefore God overlooked: but now he commandeth men that they should all everywhere repent."
---Acts 17:30

Your life is incomplete.

You began well. What has hindered you?

Troubles?

Christ called, "Come unto me all ye that labor and are heavy laden."

Pleasures?

The night of His betrayal, your Savior said, "These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy may be in you, and that your joy may be made full."

Nay. Sin solds you back.

LITTLE CHILDREN LABOR THEIR LIVES AWAY IN YOUR MILLS. LABORERS LACK A LIVING WAGE. BROTHEL OWNERS HOPE FOR THEIR PREY. AND BREWERS, DISTILLERS, SALOON KEEPERS AND LOCKER CLUBS FLOUT OUR LAWS, WHILE OTHERS WHO BREAK THEM SUFFER THE TORTURES OF THE DAMNED IN OUR CHAINGANGS AND JAILS.

Our shame, and not happiness, comes of these.

Matthew said of Jesus, "When he saw the multitudes he was moved with compassion for them, because they were distressed and scattered as sheep not having a shepherd."

John wrote of Him, "The good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."

Yea, and when dying He called across the darkening world, "It is finished," the Shepherd and His flocks began coming into their own. First, only a thief; then a weeping woman, the Magdalene, who had known the horror of being devil possessed among men whose hearts were stone; these broken lives were mended, finished, made complete by Him alone.

God! How the crowds have grown!

He with His cross is drawing all men unto Him.

Come.

On Mars' Hill Paul said:

"God giveth to all life; He made of one every nation of men—He is not far from each one of us; for in Him we live, and move and have our being; as certain poets have said:

"'For we are also His offspring.'

"Being then the offspring of God, we ought not to think that which is divine is like unto gold or silver. The time of ignorance therefore God overlooked; but now He commandeth men that they should all everywhere repent."

Offspring of omnipotence, moving and having your being in a living God! MUST YOU SACRIFICE YOUR SONS AND DAUGHTERS TO IDOLS OF SILVER AND GOLD? You ask, "WHEN SACRIFICED I ONE?" Not one, but scores, when you put into public office men who are indifferent to the cry of the children, and to the want which waits in workmen's homes—men, who are blind to the hellgates hidden in houses of shame, bars, and liquor selling clubs—men, who are tolerant of the torturing cruelty that has been meted out to prisoners of Georgia.

God forbid that this continue!

From the White House to the home of the convict guard—in the Senate of the United States, the House, in the Legislature, on the Bench, and in the Governor's mansion we need, not merry-Andrews, scoffers and trimmers, but men who will see and complete their work.

Such men are in the world. They have vision of the needs of others, and the sacred opportunities of a public trust.

Hear Woodrow Wilson saying of unhappy Mexico, "My passion is for the submerged eighty-five per cent of the people of that republic, who are now struggling toward liberty."

And Governor Hooper, of Tennessee, saying, "My activities have not caused me to forget my former enthusiasm for good roads, but have caused me to place the moral and physical welfare of the prisoners far above every material consideration."

And Lindsay, of Colorado, bearing witness to the frightful number of children orphaned by the greed of those who fail to obey the law controlling safety appliances in the mines of his unhappy state.

Then consider Anniston's gallant Chief of Police, the Jew, Shiretzki, dying a martyr to the discharge of his duty, shot down Saturday night by a lawless liquor seller.

In the past two weeks the blood of three more men, dying violent deaths because of alcohol, has been added to the ever-spreading hideous stain in our city, calling more loudly than the blood of Cain, not for vengeance, but for the finishing of the work of driving out this curse of disregard for law and human suffering.

And our convicts, sleeping shackled one to another and to the walls, chained and caged like beasts, in iron wagons—these, too, plead and cry to God for an end to our disgrace.

We need men in office.

God send them! You are His means. Use your brains.

ASK EVERY CANDIDATE—THAT YOU HAVE TO ASK IS ALMOST POSITIVE PROOF THAT HE IS NOT YOUR CHOICE. BECAUSE ZEAL AND HEART FOR GOD'S CAUSE PERMIT NO SILENCE, WHEN HUMAN LIFE AND HAPPINESS ARE AT STAKE—BUT ASK AND FIND WHERE ONE STANDS BEFORE YOU VOTE. WITH YOUR BALLOT YOU MOCK OR WORSHIP GOD.

May He guide you.

"The times of ignorance God overlooked; but now—"

"It is finished."

Atlanta's Organized Women Ask For Many Civic Improvements

At an all-day meeting of the Atlanta City Federation of Women's Clubs, holding yesterday, Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, presiding, recommendations were made and resolutions directed to the various civic agencies asking for many improvements.

First and foremost, better protection was asked in the matter of contagious diseases. The establishment of a city market is recommended; the covering of garbage carts and wagons, and that the streets be permanently marked, and that a system of free concerts in parks be established.

The plaza plan was indorsed, and appreciation expressed to council for their action looking to the appointment of women on certain municipal boards, this asked for by the city federation at their last meeting.

Resolutions Passed.

The resolutions passed by the body were:

To City Council:

Whereas, Atlanta's growth and progress show need of a "city market," therefore the City Federation of Women's Clubs recommend the establishing of a "city market" at an early date.

Whereas, Atlanta, with its growing population and wealth and improved health conditions, desires to go forward in all forms of progress. Therefore be it

Resolved, 1. That the City Federation of Women's Clubs recommend the establishment of a concrete garbage can in the vicinity of each garbage carts and wagons.

2. That the City Federation of Women's Clubs recommend the free concerts in the parks to general council.

3. That the City Federation of Women's Clubs recommend to the general council that the names of the streets be prominently marked.

Indorsements to Council.

The following resolution was passed:

1. The City Federation of Women's Clubs express their appreciation of the ordinances passed by council placing women upon the following boards:

Education, sanitation, library, parks.

Also the ordinance increasing the salaries of the teachers of Girls' high school.

Also the ordinance establishing a new Anti-tuberculosis building.

Also the City Federation of Women's Clubs recommend to the wisdom of the city fathers the construction of a plaza to relieve the crowded condition of the commercial district.

To the chamber of commerce resolutions were sent as follows:

Whereas, the housing conditions among negroes are deplorable; the playgrounds and grounds around their schools, no parks where children can play, no establishment may take their place for fresh air and recreation, therefore be it

Resolved, the City Federation of Women's Clubs recommend to the welfare committee of Atlanta Chamber of Commerce the early and careful consideration of these conditions.

Legislative Work.

To be presented to the forthcoming meeting of the general assembly resolutions were passed as follows:

1. Whereas, the work of kindergarten work is becoming more apparent every day, and a matter of supreme importance, and one that calls forth the united and sustained effort of every thoughtful citizen. Therefore be it

Resolved, That the City Federation of Women's Clubs urge the passage of the "permissive kindergarten bill."

2. Whereas, education is more necessary every day to overcome evil and to aid the progress of development of all kinds. Therefore be it

Resolved, That the City Federation of Women's Clubs of Atlanta urge the passage of the compulsory education bill.

Details of Meeting.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Lumpkin at 10 o'clock.

Dr. A. M. Hughlett made a brief and interesting talk on the "Duties of Women in Public Life."

Parmlee read the minutes of the last meeting, and reports were made by chairmen of standing committees and other officers. Mrs. Samuel Bowman announced eight new clubs had been admitted, this bringing the number of organizations in the city federation to eighty-eight, the largest city federation in the south.

Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith introduced a resolution, unanimously passed, that a cablegram be sent to Mrs. John K. Ottley, now in Europe, expressing regret at her absence at the meeting, Mrs. Smith at the same time paying high tribute to Mrs. Ottley for her brilliant and efficient services rendered in and through the city federation of women's organizations.

Mrs. Frank Neely read a most interesting report of the activities of Atlanta organized women during the past year, mentioning their actual work not only in carrying out the purposes of their organizations, but in rendering public service in many movements in which they were asked to participate.

BAPTIST REVIVAL TO CLOSE SUNDAY

Street Meetings Will Be Held Tonight—Two Mass Meetings Booked for Sunday Afternoon.

A number of street meetings tonight and two great mass meetings tomorrow will mark the close of the campaign of the Baptists in Atlanta as an organized campaign. A number of the churches which have been active in the services so far have agreed to continue the meetings at their individual churches for another week.

A great mass meeting at the Auditorium-Armory Sunday, June 7, will be held as a kind of celebration of the success of the campaign, and will be participated in by every religious society affiliated with the Baptist church.

The street meetings which will be held tonight will begin with a meeting at Broad and Marietta streets at 7:30, which will be led by Evangelist T. S. Thomas, and at which the male quartet will sing. At Decatur and Boulevard the next meeting will be held, which will be led by Evangelist T. O. Reese. J. L. Blankenship will sing here. At 8:15 another meeting, led by Evangelist J. A. Scott, will be held at Decatur street and Moreland avenue. The quartet will sing at this meeting also. The last meeting will be held at Piedmont avenue and Decatur street, and will begin at 9 o'clock. This will be led by Evangelist J. W. Bailey, and the music will be furnished by the quartet.

The two mass meetings which will be held at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon will be the feature of the campaign for that day.

The first will be led by Dr. Lincoln McConnell at the Bijou theater. It will be for men only. Here Dr. McConnell will deliver his great religious lecture, "Brains and Backbone." This lecture is perhaps the best known of Dr. McConnell's lectures, and has done much toward the establishment of the reputation as a lecturer which Dr. McConnell holds. It is expected that a large audience will hear him.

At the meeting for women only, at the First Baptist church, Mrs. Dew, wife of Evangelist Dr. Dew, will speak. The subject of her address will be "My Conversion From Romanism," and it will be in the nature of personal experience.

A tribute of the affection and esteem in which he is held by the evangelists and Christian workers who have been working under his direction in Atlanta and in other cities was paid Dr. Weston Bruner Friday at the meeting at the First Baptist church, when he was presented with a silver platter by the evangelists. The presentation speech was made by Dr. Raleigh Wright.

PLANS ARE NOW ON FOOT FOR A NEW TERMINAL

Grants of Macon Property to Be Transferred to New Terminal Company.

Macon, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—At the coming session of the legislature the Central of Georgia Railway company will submit an amendment to the bill passed at the last session transferring certain grants from the city of Macon to the railway to be used for terminal purposes, including the closing of Cherry street, between Fifth and Seventh streets, and Plum street, and, in addition, the utilization of a portion of Fifth street, for trackage purposes, transferring these grants to a terminal company, which will be formed here for the purpose of erecting the new $1,500,000 terminal in which all of the railroads entering the city will have an interest.

It was at first the intention of the Central railway to go ahead and build the new terminal without assistance, and then lease it to other roads for a certain stated annual sum. Since then, however, the other roads have entered into the plan for a terminal company. There is little doubt but that the desired amendment will be passed without opposition.

Refused to Pay Street Tax.

A number of the most prominent business men in Macon were in recorder's court this morning for the first time as prisoners. They had been summoned for failure to pay their street taxes, though only one went to trial, the others all paying up before their cases were called.

J. P. Blasingame was the one who refused to pay, and he was convicted and fined $5. Immediately his attorney announced that the constitutionality of the street tax law will be tested in the higher courts through appeal from the decision of Recorder Lockett. There has been talk of testing this law several times recently, but this is the first time that any definite action has been taken. The outcome of the case will be watched with interest, for there is much antagonism to the act requiring the payment of the tax.

Pays Fine of $1,000.

The friends of W. F. Holmes, former city marshal, who was fined $1,000 in the superior court yesterday for embezzling $11,000 from the city of Macon, this morning within one hour's time raised the full amount of the fine and paid it into the court. There were more than 100 subscribers to the fund in the business district of the city.

The extenuating circumstances connected with Holmes' shortage and the fact that he has a wife who is now desperately ill, won much sympathy for him. One of his staunchest friends in his trouble has been former Mayor John T. Moore, who personally circulated a petition calling on the court to show leniency, and it is due to his efforts more than anyone else that Holmes escaped a penitentiary sentence.

Held for Manslaughter.

Arthur Hill, an old negro man who was run over by a bicycle ridden by Henry Ivey, a negro boy, a couple of days ago, died today at the Macon hospital. The Ivey boy has been held on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Witnesses say the boy was traveling the rate of 30 miles an hour at the time he struck the old man. Ivey lays the blame on the dead man, saying that when he saw the bicycle he became confused and stopped right in front of it.

GRIFFIN IS SHOWING BIG BUSINESS BOOM

Griffin, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—Big figures characterize the business of this city in recent weeks. The increase in taxable values during the past year in Spalding county is over $1,000,000, more than one-half of which is in Griffin alone. Within the past thirty days new business enterprises amounting to $370,000 have been launched and the end is not yet.

New enterprises noted are a $50,000 new union passenger station, a gas, coal and ice plant to cost $100,000 and an electric railway system to cost $220,000. Plans are being devised for the erection of a modern office building and a commodious apartment house. In addition to the above business projects over $100,000 worth of new residences and small business houses are now being erected, together with numerous improvements and enlargements of others.

COTTON CROP IS HELPED BY THE WARM WEATHER

Cordele, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—Though considerable damage has been done to the corn and other crops in this section by the prolonged drouth, the very warm weather has been very beneficial to the cotton crop, and it has been hurt little by the scarcity of rain. Compared with last year the cotton crop is about 10 per cent better, having been planted early and got a good start. Practically all of the crop in Crisp county is up with a good stand, and chopping has been going on for several weeks.

REV. L. C. BRANSCOMB TO PREACH AT EMORY

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., May 29. (Special.)—President James E. Dickey, who has just returned from the general conference, Oklahoma City, announces that Rev. L. C. Branscomb, D. D., presiding elder of the Birmingham (Ala.) district, has consented to take the place of Dr. Detwiler, of Nashville, Tenn., and preach the commencement sermon for Emory. Dr. Branscomb is well known throughout the bounds of the southern Methodist church. Emory conferred upon him some five years ago, the degree of doctor of divinity. Dr. Detwiler had to cancel his engagement on account of throat trouble, lately developed.

PLAN TO BUY CITY HALL WILL BE DISCUSSED

Waycross, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—Next Tuesday's meeting of city council is expected to be one of the largest that has been held in some time. The proposed purchase of city hall property will cause considerable discussion. The fight for a new city hall has been waged actively for over a month, and, while the administration seems split over it, there is no question that sentiment among council members is for definite action of some kind next Tuesday night.

BOARDMAN TESTIFIES IN NAVAL STORES CASE

Intense Interest Was Displayed When He Took Stand in Savannah Friday.

Savannah, Ga., May 29.—George Meade Boardman, former treasurer of the American Naval Stores company and one of the defendants convicted at the first trial of the officials of the American for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, which conviction was subsequently set aside by the United States supreme court, took the stand today as a witness for the government against E. S. Nash, R. P. Shotter, J. F. C. Myers and Carl Moller. The case against Mr. Boardman was nolle prossed by order of the attorney general two months ago.

Copies of letters which passed between Mr. Boardman and other officials of the American were produced in evidence, despite strenuous objections by counsel for the defense, showing that the treasurer had resigned as a result of the contention growing out of the practice of regrading on the Brooklyn yard. Mr. Boardman did not approve of the practice, according to the testimony offered, and the difference between Mr. Shotter and himself became so acute that the treasurer finally resigned, but consented to withhold his resignation until after the annual meeting of the company, on the promise that the practice of regrading would be discontinued.

Charles Lilly, of California, and N. V. Graves, of Philadelphia, also testified, following which the government closed its case.

Carl Moller, one of the defendants and former manager of the Americans interests in Jacksonville, was the first witness for the defense. Mr. Moller contradicted the evidence of Hoskins, a negro formerly employed in the yards of the National Transportation and Terminal company, relative to "regulating" turpentine. Mr. Moller made a lengthy statement explaining the practices at the Jacksonville plant of the American.

UNLESS RAIN FALLS CROPS WILL BE RUINED

Lyerly, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The long drouth is becoming a serious proposition in northwest Georgia just now, and unless there is relief at once the crops will be totally destroyed. No rain has fallen here now in four weeks, and the dry, parching wind and the burning sun of the past week has almost ruined the crops.

Cotton that was planted a month ago has not come up, and in some instances the seeds have been plowed up and replaced, but the second planting does not come up. The wheat and oat crop has also been greatly injured by the drouth.

This week will wind up the strawberry and cherry season at Lyerly. The crop has been good, considering the dry weather. The cherry crop was the largest known in many years.

Narrowly Misses Death.

Quitman, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—While in bathing at Blue Springs, where she had gone with a picnic party, Miss Nina Belkcorn, a prominent young woman of this place, narrowly escaped drowning. She went down twice, and it was only by a desperate effort that she was saved.

AN APPEAL TO WOMEN

By One Who, From Her Past Experience, Is Capable of Giving Sound Advice.

Bud, Ky.—"I want to urge all weak women," says Mrs. Lizzie R. Barker, of this place, "to give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a fair trial, for I believe it will do for them what it has done for me.

I was a sufferer for 13 years, with such pains I could scarcely walk or stand on my feet. I had headache, dizziness and fainting spells.

After many treatments failed to help me, my husband persuaded me to give Cardui, the woman's tonic, a trial, and I did so. Now I feel like a new woman. I am well of all these troubles, and can do all my housework, with pleasure.

When I commenced taking Cardui, I was not able to sit up. Now I am enjoying good health and do all of my work.

I shall keep Cardui in my home all the time. There is not any medicine that equals it for women."

We, also, urge you to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, for your troubles. It has helped so many thousands of women in the past half century that we feel sure it will help you, too.

Prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardui is the remedy for you to use. It can do you nothing but good.

Try it.

Crackers Tie and Lose Game in Final Stanza; Williams Makes Debut

By Asa Rountree, Jr.

Birmingham, Ala., May 29.—(Special.) Once again the Barons counteracted their opponents' rally in the final session and added another victory to their long list by a more effective one in their part of the last round. The Crackers were the victims this time.

After overcoming a commanding lead in the eighth and ninth innings by scoring a trio of counters in each, the Barons came back and when two were down got Carroll on first and succeeded in bringing him around the circle with the winning tally, making the final score 7 to 6 in favor of the locals.

Williams, a young right-hander secured from the Washington Americans, who reported to Manager Smith yesterday morning, was rushed into battle by the Crackers' leader before he had even time to become acclimated to weather conditions.

Williams' Debut.

But even under this disadvantage he performed in a creditable manner during the early parts of the fray. obertson was his rival on the mound, and at times both were rather unsteady and each got in several deep holes. Neither completed the game, for Robertson went out in the ninth after the Crackers had tied the score, while Williams was taken out to allow Tyree to bat for him.

The final inning was a thriller and came near ending disastrously for the Barons. After scoring three runs in the eighth, the visitors, with the aid of two pinch hitters, continued their assault on Robertson's curves and registered three runs before Johnson relieved him. Eight of the visitors had trials at the bat and seven of them reached first on two fielders' choices.

The B[illegible]rons, thinking themselves sure w[illegible]ers, loafed in the latter two innin[illegible]t were rudely awakened by fiv[illegible] one a home run drive by [illegible] two bases on balls and two [illegible].

Pinch Hitting.

Pinch hitting by Covington and Stewart were responsible for most of the Barons' runs. On two occasions, after two were down, Covington slapped out safeties and a duo of tallies were registered each time. Stewart's single in the ninth brought Carroll over with the deciding score.

Two homers were recorded during the fray, each team getting one. The first came in the fourth when Pete Knisely laced the ball into deep center. The other was uncorked in the eighth. Long drove a low liner over the short field. The ball bounded over McBride's head and rolled to the left field bleachers and Long had little trouble in rounding the circuit.

For the first five innings the game was well played, although slow. Five hits were secured off the twirlers, two going to the Barons and three to the Crackers. However, one of these credited to the Barons was Knisely's homer, placing the Barons in the lead.

Widen the Gap.

The gap was further widened in the sixth. The Barons fell on Williams, and on three hits, a base on balls and a sacrifice garnered three runs. The Crackers drew within striking distance of the locals in the eighth when, on Kirchers single, Eibel's walk and Long's homer, three runs were scored.

Again the Barons seemingly retired from danger by shoving over two in their part of the eighth.

But in the ninth the Crackers rallied and tied the score. Jennings' single, Flanagan's walk, a fielders' choice, Tyree's scratch hit, McConnell's fly, Marcan's error and Eibel's single. It appeared as if the game would go into extra innings, for the frist two Barons up in the ninth were retired. But Carroll's infield tap, Marcan's base on balls and Stewart's single to center enabled Carroll to score with the winning run.

The Oaks has been run every year since 1779. It is an event for three-year-old fillies, and is valued at $5,000. The course is 1 1-2 miles in length. For this year's race there were originally 300 entries.

WRIGHT AND ADOUE WIN DOUBLES CHAMPIONSHIP

E. Phelps Will Meet Wright in Final of Singles Today.

New Orleans. May 29.—Irving Wright, of Boston, and J. Adoue, of Dallas, won the tennis championship of the south in men's doubles here today by defeating Douglas Watters and Henry Bruns, of New Orleans, three sets out of four, in the southern championship tennis tournament on the courts of the New Orleans Tennis club. The score was 6-3, 2-6, 10-8, 6-4.

The match was the best exhibition of the meet. The local players were in good form, but could not hold out against the tactics of their veteran opponents. Watters played a steady game, but Wright made his points when they counted most. The Dallas man took a number of points on clever cross court playing.

E. Phelps, of New Orleans, defeated C. B. Maginnis, New Orleans, in the last match of the semi-finals in men's singles, and tomorrow will meet Wright in the finals. Should the Bostonian win he will carry double honors with him on his return to the east, due to his victory in doubles today.

Miss I. Murphy, New Orleans, present champion in ladies' singles, qualified today for the finals tomorrow, with Miss E. Legendre, of New Orleans, as her opponent.

Finals in men's singles, mixed doubles, ladies' singles and the consolation will be played tomorrow, terminating the tournament, which began last Monday.

Matches played today resulted as follows, only local players competing:

Semi-finals, men's singles: E. Phelps defeated C. B. Maginnis, 6-4, 6-1.

Third round, ladies' singles: Miss I. Murphy defeated Miss A. Monrose, 6-1, 6-2.

The game was decided in the seventh on singles by Hoblitzell and Neihoff, Bates' infield out and a sacrifice fly by Miller, who batted for Gonzales. The fielding of both sides was brilliant. Dalton's overhead catch in deep center of Meyers' fly and Wheat's one-handed scoop of Bescher's low fly were a remarkable combination in the fifth inning. Smith pulled a foul out of the grandstand, and Bescher made a star running catch off Dalton's bat.

THIRTY AUTOS READY FOR 500-MILE RACE

Goux and Boillot Rule as Favorites at Indianapolis Sweepstakes.

Indianapolis, May 29.—Automobile racing enthusiasts, who are swarming into Indianapolis by the thousands tonight, are bemoaning the fact that Ralph De Palma will not start in the fourth annual 500-mile automobile race here tomorrow. De Palma and his car vibrated so much that his engine would not stand the terrific strain for 500 miles.

De Palma's place in the race will be taken by Gilhooley in an Italian car, thus making six nations—the United States, France, Great Britain, Germany, Belgium and Italy—entered for the prizes totaling $50,000 in addition to a number of special prizes offered by accessory concerns.

The betting favors Goux, winner of last Year's race, and Duray, driving a Boillot. Other noted drivers who will start are: Oldfield, Wilcox, Teetzell, Guyot, Christiaens, Duray, Burman, Wishart, Bragg, Mulford, Anderson, Dawson, Friedrich and Grant.

GUY FRIDDELL BLANKS TECH HIGH 8 TO 0

By Carl Taylor.

The combined features of air tight fielding, superb pitching of Guy Friddell, and the hitting of the Boys' High White batsmen, were enough to register a defeat against Tech High in the opening game of the three-game series, played Friday afternoon at Grant field by the score of 8 to 0.

Standing out above the rest of the features of the B. H. S. playing, was the great pitching of Guy Friddell. During the game, exactly twenty-eight men faced him, and with the exception of one inning, three Tech High men went out in regular order. Only one hit was secured off of his delivery, and that was a single secured by Smith, the opposing pitcher, and came in the last round. Three Tech High men reached first, and only one of these got as far as second, while none reached the vicinity of the third cushion.

Until the seventh inning, the game was a pretty pitching duel between Smith and Friddell, with Friddell having the best of the argument, when Boys' High players came to bat with the stick and registered five runs before the necessary three outs were made by Tech High.

The fielding of the infield of Boys' High was air tight, and Spurlock, Floyd, Johnston and Vinson played the game of their lives.

Weaver, behind the bat for Boys' High, and incidentally captain of the 1915 B. H. S. team, caught the best game of his career, handling Friddell in fine style.

The batting honor of the game, goes to "Bill" Spurlock, captain of the Purple and White team, who succeeded to bat five times and secured four hits, one of which went for the entire circuit, two of the two-bagger variety, and one single.

Sid Johnson also came in handy with the willow for Boys' High, while the two-bagger by Vinson made Tech in the inning, came with the bags loaded.

For Tech High, the playing of Jenks and Morgan was good in the field. Nothing can be said for Tech High at the bat, as they were helpless in all times before the masterly hurling of Friddell.

The second game of the series will be played Monday afternoon at Grant field, and Warwick, for Boys' High, will probably oppose Parks, for Tech High.

Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Boys' High . . .	1	7	0
Tech High . . .	0	1	3

Batteries—Friddell and Weaver; Smith and Hooper.

KIRKWOOD-CAPITOL VIEW GAME AT PONCE TODAY

Capitol View and Kirkwood, of the Sunday School league, will play at Ponce de Leon Saturday. These teams are two of the fastest in the city, and a good game is promised.

A small admission of 25 cents will be charged. Children under 15 years of age, 10 cents; ladies free.

Kirkwood and Capitol View teams have met once before this season, Kirkwood won by the close score of 7 to 6. The game was hard fought, and both teams seemed very evenly matched. Since then we both have had additions, and each is confident of taking Saturday's game. The S. V. D. bunch defeated the Kirkwood boys and the Capitol View team in turn, walking away with the S. V. D. team. The batteries will probably be: Kirkwood, Snipes or Murphey and Yawn; for Capitol View, Tinsley and Shockley. Many tickets have been sold, and more can be had at the gate tomorrow.

HANLON AND PERRY WAGER ON CHANCES IN TUESDAY'S BOUT

Eddie Hanlon and Jimmy Perry met last night at Five Points. It was the first time the young battlers have seen each other since they signed for their ten-round bout at the Orpheum theater next Tuesday night.

"Hello, Eddie," was Perry's greeting. "How are you feeling?"

"Good enough to repeat the same dose I handed you last night," replied Hanlon with a good-natured smile.

"Well, that's nothing," Perry's come back. "But you're not going to repeat and am going to see that you don't get a walloping I used to when you were fighting partners. Remember some of those, don't you, kid?"

"Say, if you're sure of that, I'll just bet you $100 right now that I win," was Hanlon's next shot.

"You're on," snapped Perry. "I haven't got the money with me, but we can let the promoters take it out of your end."

"That's a go," said Hanlon. "I'll up to Billy Lotz's place tomorrow afternoon, and we will close the deal then and give it to the promoter."

With that the bout was on. This side wager means that it will be a sure-fight bout.

The preliminary fights will be arranged today.

Tickets are selling fast at Tumlin Brothers' and the Arcade. Prices are: balcony, 75 cents; orchestra, $1 and ringside seats on the stage, $2.

KILBANE KNOCKS OUT CHAVEZ IN 2D ROUND

Denver, Colo., May 29.—Johnny Kilbane, of Cleveland, featherweight champion, knocked out Benny Chavez, Colorado challenger, in the second round of a scheduled fifteen-round bout here tonight.

Foster's Shutout Record Broken by Our Bisland

Rivington Bisland, shortstop for the Cleveland last season and now with the Cleveland Naps, is responsible for the shutout string of a pitcher's record this season.

But we'll let Tom Terrell, of the Cleveland Leader tell it in the Sunday issue of Wednesday, May 27:

"Bisland singled to right, scoring James." Never nothing so particularly startling about those words that you've heard or read hundreds of times before.

"Tomorrow" will be the next day most of us will have eaten our fill of and never given such an expression a print. Those words are branded on Foster's mind. Even if the Senators become if he is still among the earth's laborers, he will be able to draw a fairly complete picture of the scene which gave rise to that expression.

"That hit by Rivington Bisland is the fifth inning of yesterday's game at Boston sung a death dirge over Foster's corpse.

"Until the delivery of Bisland's single Foster had accumulated 42 2-3 innings during the course of which he successfully quelled all efforts of the opposition to score.

"Starting with the eighth inning of the game with the Athletics at Philadelphia, May 2, Foster had pitched four successive shutout games—a remarkable performance for a Johnson or a Mathewson, let alone for a youngster who is making his first real bid for world-wide and age-long baseball fame.

"Until yesterday Foster had surpassed all records for consecutive scoreless performances held by Walter Johnson, Jack Coombs and Ed Walsh. Today Foster ranks fourth among the pitchers of all time in that respect."

QUERIES ANSWERED

(Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.)

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: Will Jacksonville and Atlanta play between June 2 and 15? If so, with what teams?

Augusta, June 3; Columbus, June 4, 5, 6; Charleston, June 8, 9, 10; Albany, June 11, 12, 13.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: In a close game, the score standing 2 to 2, last half of the ninth, home team at bat, man on third base, two strikes gone, home team sends coacher to coach-er to come to bat out of his turn; one strike and two balls on batter, visiting team finds out home team has sent the wrong batter up, visiting team claims that umpire call the side out. Umpire refuses, and game was forfeited to visiting team. What is your ruling on this?

Rule 51, section 1, covers this. When the visiting side protested, the umpire should have seen that the proper batter was sent to bat, and the balls and strikes called would have stood as they were, despite the change. The visiting team had a good kick and have a good one yet. The game ought to be considered a tie and played over. The umpire had no right to forfeit to home club. Neither did he have any right to call the side out, unless home team refused to send right batter up, after being asked to do so by umpire.

MAXWELL CARS FAVORED IN THE BIG RACE TODAY

Indianapolis, Ind., May 29.—(Special.) Indianapolis motor speedway Maxwell racers are the hot favorites among the American cars entered in the big speed classic to be pulled off tomorrow. The marvelous performances of these cars today further emphasized the belief that they will be in the winning list Tomorrow. Teetzell, the Maxwell driver, predicts that he will have to travel close to 90 miles an hour for the whole distance.

Learns Difficult Role In Quarter of an Hour And Scores a Big Hit

When a girl can learn a role in fifteen minutes, dress and make up for it while she is reading the lines and then go on and play the role before a big audience without a slip, she has the makings of a real actress.

That's what Miss Katherine Kirby, of Atlanta, did at the Lyric when a part had been suddenly left vacant by the "walk out" of Miss Marguerite Chaffee.

The story of Miss Chaffee's announcement of her forthcoming marriage to Arthur Dudley, of New York, was published in The Constitution Friday, and the story of her leaving the Lyric company and her suit for $40 which had been delayed by the management from her salary also was published.

MISS KATHERINE KIRBY.

Miss Lucille LaVerne, head of the company which bears her name, requested Friday that her side of the case of "Chaffee v. The Georgia Theater Company et al." be published. She said:

"Miss Chaffee did what actors consider a most unprofessional thing in leaving the company without notice. She had given her two weeks' notice, but this was not to take effect until Saturday night, when she had completed her week in 'The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary.'

"Miss Chaffee recently began to cut rehearsals repeatedly and when she did come to the theater, and when she as seriously to delay the rehearsals of other players. This naturally had its effect on discipline and other members of the company resented it deeply.

"This came to a climax when on the opening night this week Miss Chaffee caused a serious stage wait by her late arrival and went on without command of her lines, almost ruining an important scene. The management then asserted the usual privilege and notified her that a reduction in salary would be imposed upon her, after due notice had been posted that this penalty would be imposed on all who failed to attend rehearsals."

NO MORE SORORITIES AT WESLEYAN COLLEGE

Board of Trustees Decides to Abolish Secret Organizations by Gradual Method.

Macon, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The day of the sororities at Wesleyan College, the oldest chartered woman's college in America, are numbered.

For ten years the board of trustees has been working toward the abolishment of sororities from the institution, but it was not until the meeting today that a vote was taken, and the board was found to be practically unanimous in favoring that course.

It was decided that no new girls ever to come to Wesleyan shall be initiated into any secret order or sorority. The present members of the organizations can use their halls until they graduate, as can those who have already been pledged, but no new members can be taken in. This means that in four years, at the most, the sororities will cease to exist at Wesleyan. The abolition will be gradual unless the members decide to quit before graduation.

Two of the sororities, the Alpha Delta Pi and the Tri Delta, have been in existence at Wesleyan for more than fifty years and some of the best-known women in the south affiliated with them during their college days.

The trustees did not inform the student body of their action today and the first they will know of it will be through the newspapers tomorrow morning. It is believed they feared the storm that is sure to ensue.

New Musical Directors.

In addition to the action against the sororities, the trustees made a number of faculty changes today. Dr. Dingley Brown, director of the conservatory of music for six years, resigned and Prof. Joseph Maerz, formerly director of music at Syracuse university, was chosen his successor. Professor Maerz is one of the best-known concert pianists in the country.

Prof. James R. Gillette, a concert pianist and pipe organist, was elected a member of the music faculty.

A new $7,500 pipe organ has been ordered for Wesleyan, and Professor Gillette will teach pipe organ, piano, theory and harmony.

Miss Elsebeth Lurth was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Clara Bancroft from the voice department. Miss Lillian Iris Whitman, a graduate of the University of Chicago, was elected head of the modern language department to succeed Prof. W. P. Graham, resigned. She is in Paris now.

The trustees also authorized the establishment of a department of domestic science. Two new members of the board of trustees were elected. They are Rev. Luke G. Johnson of Atlanta, who fills the vacancy caused by the death of the late Dr. C. E. Dowman, president emeritus, and Prof. W. E. Thompson, of Savannah.

G. M. A. COMMENCEMENT DRAWS LARGE AUDIENCE

Thirty-three members of the senior class of Georgia Military academy at College Park received diplomas last night at the final exercises of the spring term and all the officers promoted during the year were awarded commissions.

Major C. Brantley, Jr., of Atlanta, delivered the commencement address, which was declared by Federal Judge C. E. McCall, of Mississippi, who was present, to be one of the finest speeches he had ever heard.

The warrants and commissions to the officers were delivered by Major J. P. Castleman, the commandant, and Major William Dick, assistant commandant, delivered the prizes. The diplomas were awarded by Colonel J. C. Woodward, president of the academy. The prizes given were as follows:

Blount medal for best all-round cadet officer, to Captain Lyman Sidrel.

Castleman medal for best cadet officer in military affairs alone, by A. D. Smith.

Second Blount medal for best marksman, by Cadet Moore.

Medal for oratory, C. C. McCall, son of Judge McCall.

Declaimer's medal, to Hendrix Scott, of Atlanta.

Medal for best all-round athlete, Captain A. P. Smith.

Barpolo Rodriguez of Tampico, Mexico, won first honors in the senior class. He also received two diplomas, engineering and commercial, which has not been done in quite a number of years at the academy.

DR. ELAM ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF MURDER

Kansas City, May 29.—"Not guilty" was the verdict a jury returned today in the case of Dr. W. P. Elam, a prominent physician of St. Joseph, charged with the murder of W. Putnam Cramer, a Chicago magazine solicitor, in a hotel here November 18 last. The jury deliberated two and a half hours.

Cramer was killed last November in his room in a Kansas City hotel where he and Dr. Elam had gone to discuss Cramer's relations with Mrs. Elam. There was a scuffle, which Elam says was started by Cramer. The doctor, a small man, drew his revolver and it went off.

During the trial Dr. Elam testified that he still loves his wife.

Also to operate saw mills and commissaries in connection with their operations, and to buy and sell goods, wares and merchandise therein and all tools, appliances and supplies useful or needed in the conduct of mining operations.

The capital stock of said corporation is to be paid in at the sum of five thousand ($5,000) dollars, divided into shares of one hundred ($100) dollars each; but they pray for the right to increase said capital stock from time to time by a majority vote of the stockholders to a sum not exceeding five hundred thousand ($500,000) dollars, and to issue the same or any part thereof as preferred stock upon the terms and conditions of preference which said corporation creating such issue. Such resolution may be passed by a vote of a majority of the stock outstanding.

7. They also pray to elect such board of directors, not less than three in number, as the stockholders may by law from time to time constitute, and to elect or appoint such officers and agents, as it shall seem fit to adopt by-laws and alter and amend at pleasure, and to possess and enjoy all powers incidental to corporations of this character, or promotive of its objects.

RADIUM IN THE NEWS

Radium, the most priceless of all minerals, is collected in small amounts and in only a few places, because man has not yet discovered places where it may be found in large quantities.

Science tells us, however, that there is a little radium to be found everywhere, that there is enough in every foot of the earth's crust to keep this planet warm and habitable long after the sun has become cold.

There is Radium to be found in the Want Ad. columns of The Constitution. If you are not collecting it you are neglecting an opportunity that lies close to the cornerstone of success.

STEVENS GREETED BY LOCAL R. M. S.

Head of Mail Service Tells Clerks That Department at Washington Appreciates Their Efforts.

Atlanta's mail clerks greeted A. G. Stevens, of Washington, chief of the railway mail service, when he arrived in the city last night, and tendered him a dinner at the Ansley hotel. The dinner was given under the auspices of the Atlanta division, Railway Mail association, and was one of the most pleasant events pulled off by the association in many years.

Chief Stevens told the local clerks that the department at Washington is highly appreciative of the efforts of the local corps to make the mail service perfect. He spoke of the difficulties experienced by the administration in straightening out some of the tangles in the service, and explained that had it not been for the wholesome cooperation and good will of the association the problem would have been a greater one.

Appreciates Efforts.

"I fully appreciate what has been done by the aggressive officers and members of this division," Chief Stevens said, "and I want to take this occasion to publicly thank every member on behalf of the department for their co-operation and loyalty."

Chief Stevens arrived rather late, and he was forced to call off some of the engagements which were planned to give him a glimpse of the city. He was expected that he would arrive early in the afternoon, and the local committee had planned a rather elaborate program. However, the dinner at the Ansley was immense, and the good things Chief Stevens missed in the afternoon were made up for at the dinner. There were speeches by Postmaster Bolling Jones, Chief Clerk G. S. Cobb, of Atlanta, and others.

Chief Stevens is in Atlanta on a pleasure jaunt. He will be the guest of the Atlanta division of the Railway Mail Clerks' association until 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The association invited the chief to come to Atlanta to give impetus to the big barbecue and outings which will be given at Grant park Saturday. For months the association has been planning some sort of entertainment to stimulate interest among the members and bring members from other cities here to get acquainted.

The committee in charge of the barbecue is composed of John Hogan, chairman; J. A. Zacharie, R. P. Thompson, Fred Rooney, John Eastman, W. G. Travis and J. L. Hudson.

Others Invited.

In addition to Chief Stevens, the committee sent invitations to J. A. Metts, chief clerk at Charleston; J. R. Boyd, Jacksonville; J. S. Morris, Memphis; L. O. Poole, of Birmingham; B. W. McDaniel, of Nashville, and Watson Fuller and G. L. Cobb, of Atlanta.

Chief Inspector Johnson was also invited to come, but his duties at Washington made it necessary to decline.

Much of the pleasure the clerks anticipate in the future depends on the outing Saturday. It is the aim of the association to make the outings annual affairs, and if the members show the proper spirit and make it known that they are in favor of the events, no pains will be spared to make the future outings bigger.

It is planned that after the barbecue the visitors will be taken to Stone Mountain in automobiles.

Postmaster Jones and officials of Atlanta's postal department will attend the outing.

NEGRO CUTS DETECTIVE IN EFFORT TO ESCAPE

John Black Stabbed in Encounter With Desperate Shoplifter.

Chief Detective John Black, a prominent figure in the Leo Frank murder case, being one of the city's sleuths detailed upon the Phagan murder investigation, received several severe cuts Friday morning in a terrific struggle with a negro shoplifter, whom he had just arrested in a Decatur street store, corner of Bell street. Detective Black received one cut across his face, which will probably mark him for life. He was stabbed by the negro prisoner in several places about the body.

Both the negro and the detective were sent to the Grady hospital, and the negro, as a result of the blows he received from the detective's billy, is reported in a serious condition. He did not regain consciousness for several hours.

Detective Black's wounds were dressed and he was later sent home.

Detective Black and his partner, Detective J. H. Davis, had gone to the store to answer a call. When they arrived there two negro shoplifters were pointed out to them.

Davis seized one of the negroes, John McCoy, of No. 321 Port street, and Detective Black the other. Joe Wilson, a notorious police character.

Davis had started out of the store with his prisoner, when Wilson suddenly attacked Detective Black with an open knife, slashing him across the face.

The city sleuth reached for his pistol and in the struggle with the negro the pistol fell to the floor.

The negro quickly reached for the pistol, and, as he did so, Black walloped him with his billy. The negro fell, stunned.

In the struggle, which had lasted only a minute, the negro inflicted several minor knife wounds about Black's body.

"SAFETY FIRST" BOOKS FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN

"Safety First" booklets, designed to educate the children of Georgia in the avoidance of accidents have been prepared by the Georgia Automobile club, and are being distributed among the school children of Georgia. It is the purpose of the club to place one of the booklets in the hands of every child in the state who is old enough to read, and into the family of every child.

The booklets contain instructions for the observance of the policy of "Safety First." They are in the form of questions and answers. In each answer there is a reason given for the rule which is laid down, and illustrations in the most forcible language, simple enough for a child to understand.

The booklet is directed against the dangerous practices indulged in by pedestrians, and particularly children, which cause many of the accidents. Some of them are: stealing rides on automobiles, playing in the streets, roller skating on the streets, playing on the sidewalk near rapidly moving automobiles, playing in cars at the curb, etc. The "Safety First" slogan has been adopted by the Georgia Automobile club, and is put into practice by the members in driving.

WILLIAM D. ELLIS III. CAPTURES SECOND PRIZE

Winners in an inter-academic contest are especially honored, as the contest is open to all grades of all the prep schools in this section. Ellis received his oratorical training in Atlanta, where he won a medal at the Boys' high school Christmas exercises before he went to Culver.

This is the second honor William Ellis has won this year, as he was appointed to a speaker's place from Culver Military academy in the contest held at the Northwestern university, at Evanston, Ill., last month.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Ellis, of Atlanta, the grandson of Judge and Mrs. W. D. Ellis and of Mrs. M. A. Lipscomb, of Atlanta, Ga., and his friends are proud of the success he is making in music, for which he won a scholarship, as well as his oratorical honors.

MANY STORES TO CLOSE WEDNESDAY AFTERNOONS

Ninety-eight per cent of the grocery stores and meat markets of Atlanta have already signed the agreement to close their stores on Wednesday afternoon during the summer months from June 10 to September 16.

Announcement was made yesterday by the L. W. Rogers company that each of their forty-seven stores will observe the Wednesday half holidays, and this is considered one of the biggest boosts that the campaign has received thus far.

The holiday committee of the Retail Grocers and Butchers' association is making an effort to reach every one of the stores and markets in the city before the date set for the beginning of the holidays. It is possible, however, that some of them will be unintentionally overlooked, and committee is anxious to have each grocer or butcher who is thus overlooked to call either O. T. Camp, president of the association, or any other member of the committee.

CLASS OF 1909 TO HOLD REUNION ON JUNE 15

Athens, Ga., May 29.—(Special.)—The committee for the great reunion of the 1909 class, consisting of Morton Hodgson, chairman; Jerome Michael and E. M. Brown, of Atlanta, have completed the arrangements for the holding of the first reunion of their class.

The members of the class will gather in Athens on June 15 and hold an informal reception at their headquarters in the Southern Mutual building. The big feature event of the reunion will be the parade of the classes of 1909 and 1904, the first time that such a stunt has been arranged for at a reunion, at the university. The class of 1909 will appear as sailor boys, preceded by a big naval float, while the boys of 1904 will follow in the quaint costume of the Chinaman, while the graduating class of 1914 will bring up the procession in their caps and gowns. The parade will start at 5 o'clock from the Southern Mutual building and will be preceded by a band of Clarke county negroes.

The sensation among the ladies of Atlanta has been caused by Dolly Varden—the Flour that is White as the Driven Snow. Ask your Grocer.

TENDENCY TO TAKE PROFITS ON COTTON

Caused the New York Market to Close at a Net Loss of 7 to 18 Points.

New York, May 29.—The cotton market was unsettled today as a result of heavy general realizing, which was doubtless promoted by the tendency to take profits for over the holiday and the government's crop report on Monday. Weather conditions showed no improvement, however, and offerings were absorbed by the covering of recent sellers or fresh buying, with the market closing steady at a net loss of 7 to 18 points.

Cables were lower than due, while the showing of the early weather map encouraged private predictions of clearing conditions in the southwest over Sunday. Private crop reports issued before the opening made rather a more favorable showing than the figures published earlier in the week, and this also probably inspired some of the heavy early offerings.

The market opened at a decline of 20 points on June and of 9 to 15 points on later months. Liverpool was a heavy seller here, presumably against purchases in the English market, but offerings were well taken around the initial decline and prices rallied some 5 or 6 points from the lowest. May, in fact, recovered from the opening decline to last night's closing prices, and went out a midday still commanding a premoum of more than 100 points over July. The balance of the list met continued heavy southern and local realizing, however, and at one time during the afternoon ruled about 16 to 20 points under yesterday's closing figures.

Later rallies were attributed to bad weather reports from the southwest and covering by early sellers for a reaction. Three private condition reports were issued, one making the condition of the crop 78.2, another 77.5, and the third 75.6. The government report, to be issued at noon on Monday, will compare with a condition of 79.1 last year and a ten-year of 80.4 per cent.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands 13.75; gulf 14.00. No sales.

COTTON THE PAST WEEK; REVIEW OF THE MARKET

New York, May 29.—There has been an excited advance in the cotton market during the past week, with all positions making new high ground and most of them new high records for the season on covering of shorts and a broadening speculative demand. May contracts sold as high as 14.45 before final maturity, or 14.75 per bale above the recent low record, while December advanced to 12.88. The upward movement has undoubtedly reflected a scare over the new crop outlook, owing to continued wet weather in the southwest, while there have also been many complaints of droughty conditions, or low night temperatures east of the river, and apprehension of a short yield would seem to have developed coincidentally with increasing confidence in continued large world's requirements. Realizing was very heavy above the 12 1-2 level, and became active enough to cause reactions of some 20 to 27 points from the best toward the end of the week, when part of the heavy selling was probably in the way of realizing for over the holiday tomorrow and the government report, which is expected at noon on Monday.

Private condition reports have shown a considerable divergence of opinion, but all of them have been under last year's and the official ten-year average of 80.4 per cent, while advices from the southwest have indicated unfavorable conditions since the data for the government report were sent to Washington last Monday and complaints from the eastern belt have recently been more numerous. The talk in some quarters, however, has indicated expectations of a rapid improvement in eastern belt crop prospects, should the weather improve in the near future, and there has probably been some sellin on that theory as well as on an idea that the advance had checked trade demand and had been sufficient to discount a low June bureau.

Cotton Seed Oil.

CORN MADE JUMP OVER THREE CENTS

Big Chicago Firm Was Caught Short and Caused Active Buying.

Chicago, May 29.—Instead of short sellers of wheat being subjected to a squeeze, which had been predicted today in the final settlements at the end of the crop year, the big firm that was in a position to twist prices upward went to unusual lengths to ease difficulties for wheat dealers, and itself was caught short in corn. The real flurry was in corn, which closed for May at an advance of 3 1-4, compared with last night, but otherwise virtually was unchanged. Wheat finished 1-8 to 1-4@3-8 net lower, oats 1 1-2 down to 1-4 up, and provisions 10 off to a shade advance.

The chief owners of wheat supplied May option freely to all bidders and also accepted as valid delivery wheat on track here, against trade rules. The price was about 7 higher than a year ago.

Buying of 1,000,000 bushels of May corn by the principal short, the firm that was in control of wheat, sent prices for May upward. The great bulk of buying, however, was not at the extreme advance, and the net loss, if any, was not such as otherwise would have attracted attention.

Oats settled without any abnormal incident, and provisions, too, ended the month peacefully.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, May 29.—Liquidation of the long interest was resumed today in the cotton market as soon as trading commenced and prices were kept below the level of yesterday's close throughout the session. At the lowest they were 10 to 15 points down. The close was 9 to 12 points down.

Fresh buying for long account, based on continued unfavorable weather, rains in the west and drouth in the east, and prospects of no immediate change kept the market steady and checked the downward movement.

A private bureau report on condition of 78.2 per cent of the normal undoubtedly stimulated liquidation, although conservative traders pointed out that such a condition report from the government would be considered low. Small mill takings increased late in the session.

Exports 9,000.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, May 29.—The European markets accepted the condition estimate of The Journal of Commerce and Miss Giles as giving a decidedly better condition of the crop than they had been led to believe by the private advices. This led to heavy selling by continental account and to arbitrage selling here, which, with a moderate amount of realizing for local account, brought a decline of from 10 to 13 points. As we will be closed for Memorial day, the tendency has been to reduce engagements, especially as the bureau report will be issued on June 1. Notwithstanding the decline abroad, the feeling continues bullish, though these condition reports are larger than expected.

Jay, Bond & Co.

New York, May 29.—The issuance today of several private reports, pointing to a crop condition of about 78 per cent, influenced heavy selling in Liverpool and the easiness there communicated itself to the local market, where prices declined about fifteen points. In addition to the liquidation, the narrow differences prevailing between the New York and Liverpool markets attracted considerable arbitrage selling here, but notwithstanding offerings were well absorbed at the decline. The weather in Texas is still unsettled, heavy rains having fallen there in the last 24 hours, and as a result of the continued precipitation cultivation is backward and much ground is under water. In the eastern states, however, rain is badly needed. Until these conditions are materially altered by a period of favorable weather, no severe decline in prices is expected, although reactions are expected from time to time, due to profit-taking sales.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, May 29.—The Liverpool market will be closed tomorrow, as will the New York market, but Liverpool will also be closed Monday and Monday is the day of the government report. The Liverpool longs evidently wanted the profits, without worrying over the holidays, and profit-taking broke Liverpool today. On the cables this market should have opened about 18 points down. New crops opened about ten down. The close was steady at 10 to 11 down on tentative new crop months. The cotton world knows that the start is poor and the weaher has been bad since May 25. If there is not rain in the Atlantic states over Sunday, the report will not be taken as bearish, even if it is a few points higher than expected. If there should be any decline on the report, there would be a great rush to buy.

WEEK'S TRADE REVIEWED BY MERCANTILE AGENCY

New York, May 29.—Dun's Review tomorrow will say that a period of continuous warm weather has had a beneficial effect upon practically all commercial lines and is tending to offset the earlier handicap of a backward spring.

The movement of seasonable goods, both at wholesale and retail, shows encouraging increase and most reports indicate that confidence is gaining strength. Low merchandise stocks at distributing centers, cheap money and the favorable crop outlook are chief factors operating to create more cheerful sentiment regarding the future.

As yet the usual statistical comparisons do not reflect the current business improvement, gross earnings of railroads making returns for three weeks of May 7.4 per cent less than last year, while bank clearings this week were 5.6 per cent smaller.

NEW HAVEN STOCKS ESPECIALLY WEAK

Market Moved in Narrow Groove on Account of Holiday Today.

New York, May 29.—On a diminishing volume of operations, today's stock market moved in the same narrow groove which characterized the preceding sessions of an uneventful week. Any initiative was nullified by the approaching holiday. Closing prices were fairly steady, with the exception of New Haven, which developed weakness.

Missouri Pacific issues were watched with uncommon interest, because of the approach of the time for definite action in connection with the $25,000,000 note issue. The movement of these securities pointed strongly to a satisfactory arrangement.

Canadian Pacific was not severely affected by news of the catastrophe to one of its steamships, but Baltimore and Ohio and New York Central were under pressure, while St. Paul dropped at times on the new financing under negotiation by the company. Early selling of United States Steel was traceable to offerings from London.

Local banks made an actual cash loss of about $4,400,000 for the week, with a reserve decrease of about $2,000,000. Money continued so abundant that a forty-day loan at 2 per cent was reported.

The bond market was irregular, except for Missouri Pacific, the 5s advancing 2 points. Virginia debt certificates rose 4 points. Total sales of bonds, par value, $1,640,000. United States registered 4s gained ½ per cent on call for the week.

TEN MILLION ADDED TO HARBORS MEASURE

Washington, May 29.—Work on the rivers and harbors bill was completed today by the senate commerce committee and the measure will be reported next week, carrying appropriations aggregating $53,500,000. This is an increase of about $10,000,000 over the total of the house bill, and of $1,094,000 over last year's total.

The senate committee cut out several small amounts in the house bill, and reduced others, but added many new ones. The new appropriations proposed include $50,000 for the intercoastal waterway between Pensacola and Mobile; $100,000 inter-coastal waterway, Mississippi river to Bayou Teche; $125,000 Red river; $400,000 San Juan harbor, Porto Rico.

Mohonk Lake, N. Y., May 29.—Delegates sent to the Lake Mohonk conference on International Arbitration by the United States Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers and other business organizations agreed today on resolutions opposing war, and presented their conclusion to the conference. The resolutions asserted that the business men of the country realize that upon them will rest a large part of continuing financial burdens created by armed financial burdens created by armed the United States to propose to the powers of the world a curtailment of preparations for war and budgets, and the limitation of armaments.

The conference ended today.

CHARLES BECKER AGAIN IN PRISON DEATHHOUSE

Ossining, N. Y., May 29.—Charles E. Becker today, for the second time, passed into the Sing Sing prison death house to await death for instigating the murder of Herman Rosenthal. Justice Seabury in New York earlier had sentenced him to die during the week of July 6. The prisoner's counsel will appeal, however, and this will stay the execution. Many months will elapse before the court of appeals hands down its decision.

Becker's cell faces that occupied by Hans Schmidt, who murdered Anna Aumuller in New York. The discredited priest greeted Becker, but none of the seventeen other occupants of the death house spoke.

As Warden Clancy left him, Becker remarked: "The death house doesn't look like the old place, warden. The new coat of paint makes it look fine."

Atlanta's Strides From Day to Day

ALL THE LATEST REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING NEWS

The interest in realty and investment circles today centers in the auction sale of a score or more beautiful building lots in West End Park, which will take place on the property this afternoon.

West End Park is located at the foot of Gordon street, in West End, one of the most popular residence sections of the city. The lots have improvements and restrictions which make them highly desirable as home sites.

A good sized crowd is expected out and there will probably be some brisk bidding.

The auction will be conducted by Forrest & George Adair for the owners of the property.

Property Transferred to Corporation.

The property transfers of Fulton county on Friday showed the transfer of a number of parcels of property in various parts of the city, aggregating in their nominal consideration more than $100,000, from J. H. Ewing and others to the Ewing Realty company. The parcels were part of the Grant estate, some of which has already been developed by Mr. Ewing and other purchasers.

The purpose of the transfer was to place the entire property in the hands of a corporation for the purpose of development, sale and other manipulations. The Ewing Realty company is composed of Messrs. Ewing, Benson, Killian and others.

North Broad Street Lease.

J. G. Oglesby, Jr., who some time ago leased from F. M. Coker the property at the northwest corner of the viaduct and Broad street for a term of fifteen years, has subleased the property to Marcellus Anderson. The aggregate consideration of the lease is approximately $150,000. The property is known as Nos. 2 and 4 North Broad street.

AT THE THEATERS.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Matinee and night performances today will conclude the engagements of the players who have made the Forsyth so very popular this week. Little Emma Bunting, probably the most popular actress ever introduced in Atlanta, will make her vaudeville debut at the Forsyth next week, heading a combination of artists selected with a purpose of having one of the best combinations of Keith vaudeville the Forsyth has ever presented. Another feature will be B. A. Rolfe's production of the one act musical play, "The Purple Lady," with Ralph Lynn and a company of ten pretty girls. This original novelty is one of the big features of present-day vaudeville. Hubert Kinney and Helene Clarke, the society dancers, will be on the bill, and will be glad to meet dancers after the matinee performances and give instruction in the newest dance ideas. Claire Rochester, an Atlanta girl, and other stars will appear.

The War Against Tubercular Cattle.

The following interesting facts are taken from the current issue of Farm and Fireside:

"The governor of Illinois has issued a proclamation against the dairy cows of nineteen states. No cows from any of these states will be admitted to Illinois unless they are certified to be free from tuberculosis.

"The sweep of this quarantine is so immense that it amounts to a general requirement for the tuberculin test as well as physical examination of all cows imported into Illinois for dairy purposes. There is a probability that this will soon be the universal rule for interstate shipment of dairy cows. It is of immense importance to dairymen and breeders. We have never joined in the protest against the tuberculin-testing of herds. For we have foreseen the time when a tested herd would be a big asset to its owner. That time has now arrived."

Horses Increasing in Number.

Farm and Fireside says:

"There were about 395,000 more horses in the United States on the 1st of January than three years ago, worth on the average $1.45 a head less; 63,000 more mules, worth 46 cents less; 240,000 more milk cows, worth $3.92 a head more; 175,000 less other cattle, worth $4.77 more; 1,763,000 less sheep, worth 10 cents more, and 2,245,000 fewer hogs, worth 54 cents more. The crying need of the census is an enumeration of the dogs and cats. A census of the dogs and cats of Europe show 8,000,000 cats in England and only 500,000 in Germany, while England has 4,000,000 dogs and Germany only a million."

Interesting Experiments in Breeding.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside appears an editorial entitled "Dual-Purpose Breeding," in the course of which the following interesting facts are brought out:

"It may be impossible to breed a race of cows which will be both good milkers and good beef animals. Both beef and dairy specialists say it is. Others say it is not only possible, but that Shorthorns already are such a breed.

"That it is possible to breed simultaneously for two qualities is indicated by the work of Dr. Alexander Graham Bell in sheep. He has for twenty-five years been breeding for an increased number of teats. He now has a flock of ewes none of which has less than six milk-giving teats, and some of them have eight. At the same time, and with the same sheep, he has bred for the habit of producing twins, and has established a family of sheep with an extraordinary tendency to produce twins

City Dogs Are the Worst.

In the current issue of Farm and Fireside Herbert Quick, editor of that publication, goes on with his campaign against worthless dogs which he says are a menace to the sheep industry of the United States. According to Mr. Quick the sheep business is damaged tens of millions of dollars a year by dogs. He produces evidence to show that mongrels do the most injury although some injury is done by pure-bred dogs. Comparing farm dogs with town dogs he says:

"I think it is safe to say that all classes and all breeds of dogs are dangerous to sheep when they have been taught and ungoverned, or if left untaught and ungoverned. While farm dogs are no better in this respect than other dogs, the vast number of worthless dogs, even though they may be of pure breed, which are allowed to range freely from our towns and villages, constitute the greatest danger to the sheep industry in the United States."
